Another year, another conference—and our biggest one yet! While we are working hard in preparation for LOEX 2017 (May 11-13) in Lexington, KY (e.g., the call for student and library resident/fellow poster session proposals, <http://www.loexconference.org/posterproposals.html>, has been posted), before we completely move on to next year, let us wrap-up the most recent conference: LOEX 2016 in Pittsburgh.

LOEX has wanted for a while to hold a conference in the eastern U.S., and while we didn't go very far, we were thrilled to end up in Pittsburgh, a wonderful city readily accessible from many parts of the U.S. and Canada. Our local committee of seven librarians was led by conference co-chairs Ethan Pullman and Rachel Callison (Carnegie Mellon University), who helped make sure this sizeable event ran smoothly. Most importantly, we had a skilled group of presenters (well over 100) who did a great job of conducting worthwhile sessions for our attendees.

For this issue of the Quarterly, along with a summary report of the conference briefly covering a number of breakout sessions and the detailed plenary by Dr. Sheila Corral, we also include three full conference proceedings papers for an additional in-depth sample of what was presented.

Enjoy this Quarterly on some of the highlights of LOEX 2016, and let's look forward to the green pastures in Lexington for LOEX 2017.

Happy instructing,
