YPSILANTI, Mich. (EMUEagles.com) – The Eastern Michigan University football team kicked off spring practice Tuesday, March 11, inside the Multi-Purpose Indoor Practice Facility, the first under first year Head Coach Chris Creighton.

The Eagles practiced for two hours working on individual development and position drills before the offense and defense competed against each other to end the session. The offense shined with multiple touchdowns to begin, but it was the defense who came on strong when EMU switched to full team drills.

Coach Creighton and the Eagles will continue practice throughout the rest of the week while also seeing former Eagles participate in front of scouts for pro day Thursday, March 13.
