"C.P." receives Alumni Honors Award

Published in the interests of the Alumni at intervals during the school year by the Division of Field Services, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, Michigan. PUBLICATION COMMITTEE: Earl K. Studt ('32), Director of Alumni Relations; David R. Crippen, Editor; Lucille A. Marshall, Editorial Assistant.

Clemens P. Steimle Given Alumni Honors Award

A group of several hundred enthusiastic EMU alumni applauded vigorously as Clemens P. ("C. P.") Steimle ('02), the first registrar of Eastern Michigan University, was presented the third annual Alumni Honors Award at luncheon ceremonies during Alumni Day, June 6, 1959 in McKenny Hall.

Given annually to the alumnus who has served the institution in an outstanding manner and "in recognition of long and distinguished service to his fellow citizens and loyalty to his alma mater", the award was presented by Judge Arthur F. Lederle ('09) who received the first Alumni Honors Award in 1957.

The award ceremony was a high point of the first Alumni Day to be held a week earlier than Commencement Weekend. It was felt by the directors of the Alumni Association and by many alumni that the crowded events of that weekend did not offer enough time for the proper observance of Alumni Day which this year included a morning reception and tour of new campus buildings; luncheon program and business meeting; the Emeritus Club meeting; and a program of music and the dance presented by the departments of music and physical education under the direction of Professors Marilyn Yarmain, Haydn Morgan and Robert Willoughby.

Dr. Clarke E. Davis ('12), president of the Alumni Association presided at the luncheon which featured an address by President Eugene B. Elliott on the future of Eastern Michigan University.

Registrar-Emeritus Steimle was born in Atlantic Mine, in the Upper Peninsula, August 21, 1879, and came to the then Michigan State Normal College as a freshman in 1900. He earned a life certificate in 1902, and taught and coached several sports at Albion High School in 1902 and 1903. The following year he served as principal at Hillsdale High School, and, in 1905, came back to the Normal College as an instructor in mathematics. In 1906, MSNC awarded him the degree of Bachelor of Pedagogy and in 1907, he earned a Bachelor of Arts degree.

In 1909, Mr. Steimle was named registrar of the college and held that position for 40 years, retiring in 1949. Married to the former Mary Graham, who is presently a supervising teacher at Lincoln Consolidated School, Mr. Steimle is one of the early members of the Rotary Club and a parishioner of St. John's Catholic Church. The couple, who live at 106 N. Adams St., have three sons and a daughter, all living on the West Coast, and eleven grandchildren.

In addition to the honors award, 16 alumni members were presented with life certificates by Lloyd W. Olds, Head of the Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Athletics Department at Eastern. Recipients of life membership were: Mrs. Carrie Fosdick Crawford, Flint, class of '08; William K. Dunn, Pasadena, California, class of '29; Mrs. F. Campbell Good, Darien, Connecticut, class of '48; Hildred A. Gross, Detroit, class of '22; Kenneth Gust, Dearborn, class of '34; Mrs. James M. Haswell, Washington, D.C., class of '21; Dr. John D. Mr. Holden resides in Mason, Michigan.

Annual Report of the President of the Alumni Association

Because of the crowded conditions on Commencement Day, it was decided to experiment by holding Alumni Day one week before Commencement. We started this in June, 1959, as we thought this would bring more graduates to our meeting and we believe it will if sufficiently emphasized.

We had no difficulty in drawing hundreds of our old graduates who have been out in the field since the early 'nineties and some from the 'eighties.

My acquaintance with our campus dates back to 1905 and I saw, on this last Alumni Day, many faces that have impressed their images on my mind in the fifty-four years. What a wonderful feeling to meet the old students and friends of the early part of this century!

Your president is supposed to make an annual report of accomplishments of the past year. Here, then, let me review what our Association activities have been in the last ten years since I returned to the good old State of Michigan and to this leading educational institution. During my time here I have seen us grow from a Normal School to a Normal College to a Liberal Arts College and now a University where it rightfully belongs.

There is almost no limit to what we may develop into under the wise leadership of President Elliott and his staff. This will undoubtedly be just cause for the elevation of our educational sights and a greater understanding of what kind of men and women will be needed to make this a stronger and a better world to survive.

Acreage has increased our campus unbelievably and our numerous buildings give us a metropolitan setting and still we grow. In the not too distant future, we will have a city of 25,000 students.

The outstanding contribution of the Alumni Association has been the chimes mounted in the tower, six stories up in the Administration Building where twice during the hour they summon students and faculty alike with their musical tones.

About four years ago our Association worked out an Alumni Honors Award which could be awarded to one outstanding alumnus who deserved recognition by his own Alma Mater.

The first recipient was Judge Arthur F. Lederle ('09). The second recipient was Dr. Clarke E. Davis, ('12). The third recipient was Clemens P. Steimle, ('02).

Within the year Leslie S. Butler and Mrs. Ann B. Wardrop were appointed historians to compile the story of our life as an organization; this to be done while we have some of the earlier graduates available.

We have also enlarged our radius of activity among the alumni by having group meetings wherever we have a core of workers. Meetings were held at Los Angeles, Sacramento and San Diego, California; Corvallis, Oregon and Seattle, Washington during 1959.

President Eugene B. Elliott and Mrs. Elliott who attended these meetings found them "most productive and enjoyable".

Our Alumni headquarters are being refurbished and will be stocked with pictures of our past presidents.

This last school year we introduced the idea of awarding a scroll to the highest ranking student for the entire four years.

Now we are in the midst of a new project to grace our tower in the form of a clock — two faces on the tower or perhaps four faces if the money is forthcoming. Later you will be given an opportunity to contribute large or small.

Any monies that are being spent are from annual dues and earnings only.

In other words the monies from contributing members and from life memberships only may be spent. By handling your money in this way, the Association always retains the principal.

Remember that you can get a life membership for $25.00 or a contributing membership by giving $100.00 or more.

Our idea is to make this your Association so please help us with your suggestions and support.

Our kindest regards to all.

Sincerely,

Clarke E. Davis, President

through the ranks until 1916 when he was appointed Head of the Department of Chemistry. He retired at the age of 70 having taught chemistry at Eastern a total of forty-three years.

Of his many achievements during his long service at Eastern Michigan University, Bert is perhaps proudest of the fact that he organized the Chemistry Club in 1910 and that he was a charter member and president for two years (and is presently an honorary life member) of the Michigan College Chemistry Teacher's Association organized in 1925.

The author of numerous articles and a popular lecturer, he has established the Bert W. Peet Scholarship in Chemistry at Eastern Michigan University. The income from this $1550 scholarship is awarded each year to students having made exceptionally good records in Chemistry.

BOOK REVIEW

(From time to time The Alumni Newsletter features reviews of books by alumni and faculty members.)

Weather and Climate. By George C. DeLong (McGraw-Hill) 341pp.

By Albert W. Brown, Head, Department of Geography,
Eastern Michigan University

Dr. George C. DeLong, Professor of Geography at Eastern Michigan University, has co-authored with Dr. Clarence Koeppel of San Diego State College a new textbook Weather and Climate which becomes the most recent addition to the very fine series of Meteorology and Climatology books published by the McGraw-Hill Company.

This textbook, published in October, 1958, is descriptive rather than analytical. An attempt has been made by the authors to keep the material throughout the book complete but readable and simplified. This text is intended as an introduction to weather and climate for the beginning general student rather than as a highly technical text for the professional meteorologist. It should, therefore, have widespread acceptance as a beginning college textbook and as a reference book for many elementary, junior and senior high school teachers who would find it helpful on many occasions.

Outstanding in this text is the excellent collection of photographs produced with a clarity and abundance seldom seen in a book of this kind. Many of the major terms and concepts are presented at least once in this manner. All major cloud formations are illustrated with excellent photographs. The storm scenes are vivid and the photographs of typical climatic conditions in various parts of the world are outstanding. No teacher or student can fail to be helped in their understanding of the outstanding features of climatic classification by the illustrations from Alaska, the West Coast, the deserts, and other areas. The Koppen system is used for climatic classification. Colored plates of world climatic and vegetation patterns are included in the text.

Most of the important weather instruments are illustrated with photographs showing the necessary working mechanisms. Teachers who wish to discuss this area of weather and climate will find these illustrations and cut-away diagrams most helpful. The text also contains a number of valuable charts and tables covering the usual questions which arise in teaching a course of this nature.

The appendix contains a list of selected references; conversion and humidity tables, additional information on the Koppen system, and an unusually comprehensive list of located weather stations for all parts of the earth with the important climatic statistical data for each.

HOME COMING

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1959

As this issue goes to press, preparations are well underway for the traditional annual Homecoming Weekend. The student committee, under the leadership of Chairman Fred Chynchuk of Detroit, is again hoping for a record turnout of alumni. Many alumni will want to return in time for the class games at 4:00 P.M. on Friday, October 16, and the activities of that evening. Saturday's activities begin with the parade at ten o'clock.

Again this year the plan is for a noon Alumni Association Luncheon at Charles McKenny Hall immediately following the parade. Please make your reservations with Earl Studt, Director of Alumni Relations.

The Homecoming game is with Central Michigan University and kick-off time is 1:30 P.M. Residence hall "cider-sips," fraternity open-houses, and the annual Homecoming dance at 9:00 P.M., will provide plenty of post-game activity.

We'll see all of you at Homecoming!
