Lectures and Meetings

"ETHICS AND THE GLOBAL ENVIRONMENT" PRESENTATION: The Honors College in collaboration with the College of Arts and Sciences will present "Ethics and the Global Environment," on Tuesday, November 13, from 7 - 8:30 p.m., in the Halle Auditorium. Dr. Michael Scoville of the Philosophy Department will be the featured lecturer for the evening. This event is LBC approved.

Global environmental change, such as that associated with climate change, threatens the flourishing of humans and nonhuman nature. Someone will need to bear the burdens of addressing problematic environmental change, for example, by supporting mitigation, adaptation, and/or restoration efforts. Who should bear these burdens? Further, what constitutes a fair share of the use of the environment, such as the use of the atmosphere as a "sink" for our greenhouse gases? It is difficult to answer the question of burden sharing without also answering the question of who is entitled to what with regard to the use of the global environment. This lecture will explore different possible answers to these questions and will consider some of the philosophical challenges raised by environmental change given its global, intergenerational, and interspecific nature. For questions, contact Rebecca Bowers Sipe at 487-0341 or email at rsipe@emich.edu.

GLOBAL MINING AND THE STRUGGLE FOR ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE: All are welcome to attend this lecture on Wednesday, November 14, 7 - 9 p.m., Halle Library Auditorium. EMU students and faculty who have recently traveled to El Salvador will share what they learned by visiting communities where mining is taking place and meeting with activists involved in the struggle for environmental justice. Several short films about mining around the globe will also be shown. Female activists have been fighting for equality in the workplace, at home, and in every other aspect of their lives for decades. Unfortunately, they are often forgotten in terms of passing on their remarkable history. Women have been the founders of groundbreaking organizations, the heart behind grassroots movements, and the intelligence behind profound discoveries. These women will have the opportunity to tell their stories. All event proposals must be submitted by November 16 through the online Event Proposal Form. If you have questions about this form or the month's events, please contact Suzanne Gray sgray17@emich.edu.

Session content may explore the past, present, or future and address various issues, challenges and successes related to the theme and Dr. King's life, work, and legacy.

Each academic session will run 50 minutes and will take place on January 21, 2013. Participants can choose the 2:00-2:50pm time slot, the 3:00-3:50pm slot, or both. Fact: Vernors Ginger Ale, was created in Detroit and became the first soda pop made in the United States. It was created in 1866 by James Vernor, a Detroit pharmacist. Although Vernors is the oldest surviving ginger ale sold in the United States, there were a number of brands of ginger ale, ginger soda, and ginger beer sold in commerce prior to 1866.

According to company legend, prior to the start of the American Civil War, while a clerk at the Higby & Sterns drugstore in Detroit, James Vernor experimented with flavors in an attempt to duplicate a popular ginger ale imported from Dublin, Ireland. When Vernor was called off to serve in the war, he stored the syrup base of 19 ingredients, including ginger, vanilla and other natural flavorings, in an oak cask. Vernor joined the 4th Michigan Cavalry on August 14, 1862 as a hospital steward, was promoted to second lieutenant on September 20, 1864, and was discharged on July 1, 1865.

After returning home from battle four years later, he opened the keg and found the drink inside had been changed by the aging process in the wood. It was like nothing else he had ever tasted, and he purportedly declared it "Deliciously different," which remains the drink's motto to this day.
