.6297M      REVISED BOARD POLICY RECOMMENDED FOR APPROVAL

Section 1

Regent Valvo moved and Regent Morris seconded that the Regents approve the revision of the Sexual Harassment and Other Prohibited Conduct Policy. The Policy is included on the following pages.

EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY REVISED BOARD POLICIES

Policy Number	Policy Name	Rationale for Revising Policies
3.1.8	Sexual Harassment and Other Prohibited Conduct	The University's Sexual Harassment policy was adopted in 1981. Since that time Federal and State of Michigan Courts and administrative agencies have more clearly defined employers' and educational institutions' obligations in preventing sexual harassment in the workplace and in the classroom. The proposed revision appropriately updates the University's policy and sets forth in more detail the types of harassing conduct which are being prohibited. The prohibitions against sexual harassment are applicable to University faculty, staff, students and non-University employees and guests doing business or providing services on campus. The proposed revision also adds a section to the policy which prohibits consensual sexual relationships (or requests for such relationships) between faculty members and students with whom they have a current instructional or evaluative relationship. The policy further provides that consensual sexual relationships between supervisors and subordinate employees should be avoided. Faculty, staff, students, vendors or guests who violate the policy are subject to disciplinary and/or corrective action.

SEXUAL HARASSMENT AND OTHER PROHIBITED CONDUCT

UNIVERSITY POLICY STATEMENT

It is the policy of Eastern Michigan University to provide an educational, employment, and business environment free of unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct or communications constituting sexual harassment, as defined and otherwise prohibited by state and federal statutes. Sexual harassment is prohibited at Eastern Michigan University. While sexual harassment often takes place in relationships with a power differential between the persons involved, the University also recognizes that sexual harassment may occur between persons in the absence of such a relationship.

The sexual harassment of University faculty, staff and students by non-University employees and guests doing business or providing services on campus (for example, contractors, vendors, delivery persons) is also prohibited by this policy.

It is the policy of the University that no member of the University community may harass another. Students are entitled to learn in an academic environment free of sexual harassment. However, conduct and pedagogical techniques that reasonably serve legitimate educational purposes do not constitute harassment. In the educational setting within the University, wide latitude for professional judgment in determining the appropriate content and presentation of academic material is required. Those participating in the educational setting bear a responsibility to balance their rights of free expression with a consideration of the reasonable sensitivities of other participants. Therefore, this policy against harassment shall be applied in a manner that protects academic freedom and freedom of expression, including the expression of germane ideas, however controversial, in the classroom setting, academic environment, university-recognized activities, or on the campus. Nothing contained in this policy shall be construed to limit the legitimate exercise of free speech, academic or artistic freedom, including but not limited to written, graphic, or verbal expression that serves legitimate educational or artistic purposes.

Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment may take many forms – subtle and indirect, as well as blatant and overt. It may consist of repeated actions or may even arise from a single incident if sufficiently extreme. The victim as well as the harasser may be a woman or man. The victim does not have to be of the opposite sex.

Sexual harassment includes any behavior of a sexual nature where:

- submission to such conduct is made, either explicitly or implicitly, a term or condition of an individual's employment, status in a course or program, or participation in an activity;
- submission to, or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for a decision affecting an individual's employment, status in a course or program, or participation in an activity; or

SEXUAL HARASSMENT AND OTHER PROHIBITED CONDUCT

- such conduct is intended to or would objectively be regarded by a reasonable person as unreasonably interfering with an individual's work, academic performance in a course or program, or participation in an activity, or of creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive working or educational environment.

Depending on the particular circumstances, sexual harassment may include, but is not limited to, the following:

1. Physical assaults of a sexual nature, such as rape, sexual battery, molestation, or attempts to commit these assaults; and intentional physical conduct that is sexual in nature such as touching, pinching, patting, grabbing, poking, or brushing against another individual's body.
2. Offering or implying an employment-related reward (such as a promotion, raise, or different work assignment) or an education-related reward (such as a better grade, a letter of recommendation, favorable treatment in the classroom, assistance in obtaining employment, grants or fellowships, or admission to any educational program or activity) in exchange for sexual favors or submission to sexual conduct.
3. Threatening or taking a negative employment action (such as termination, demotion, denial of an employee benefit or privilege, or change in working conditions) or negative educational action (such as giving an unfair grade, withholding a letter of recommendation, or withholding assistance with any educational activity) or intentionally making the individual's job or academic work more difficult because sexual conduct is rejected.
4. The use or display in the classroom or workplace, including electronic, of pornographic or sexually harassing materials such as posters, photos, cartoons or graffiti without pedagogical justification.
5. Unwelcome sexual advances, repeated propositions or requests for a sexual relationship to an individual who has previously indicated that such conduct is unwelcome, or sexual gestures, noises, remarks, jokes, questions, or comments about a person's sexuality or sexual experience. Such speech or conduct must be directed against another and either abusive or humiliating, or it must persist despite the objection of the person targeted by the speech or conduct. Such conduct between peers must be sufficiently severe, persistent, or pervasive that it creates an educational or working environment that would reasonably be perceived as hostile or abusive. A single incident involving severe misconduct may rise to the level of harassment.

- Sexual harassment may occur within a variety of relationships, including classroom situations involving instruction. It may occur among peers. It may occur where no relationship exists between the parties other than the co-employee or co-student relationship. Sexual harassment often occurs where the relationship is characterized by an imbalance of power and authority, including, without limitation, faculty-student, staff-student, and supervisor-employee relationships.

Consensual Sexual Relationships:

Professor and student:

The ideal professor demonstrates respect for students as individuals and serves as students' mentor, intellectual guide, and model of honest academic conduct. The professor acts to ensure academic evaluations of students that reflect each student's true merit. He or she respects the confidential nature of the relationship between professor and student and avoids all forms of exploitation, harassment, and discriminatory treatment of students.

Sexual relations (which include contact of a sexual nature) or requests for sexual relations between students and faculty members with whom they also have a current instructional or evaluative relationship are fraught with the potential for exploitation and must be avoided, and are prohibited. The respect and trust accorded a professor by a student, as well as the power exercised by the professor in an instructional or evaluative role, make voluntary consent by the student suspect. In their relationships with students, members of the faculty are expected to be aware of their professional responsibilities and to avoid apparent or actual conflict of interest, favoritism, or bias.

Supervisor and subordinate employee:

Similar considerations apply to consensual sexual relationships (which include contact of a sexual nature) between supervisors and subordinate employees. Such relationships are also fraught with the potential for exploitation and should be avoided. The power exercised by a supervisor makes voluntary consent by the employee suspect. In their relationships with employees, those in a position of authority are expected to be aware of their professional responsibilities and to avoid apparent or actual conflict of interest, favoritism, or bias. When a consensual sexual relationship develops between adults, effective steps must be taken to ensure unbiased evaluation and supervision of the employee, and the supervisory employee has an obligation to report the relationship to the appropriate supervisor to ensure that such steps are taken. It is a violation of this policy for a supervisory employee who becomes involved in a sexual relationship with a subordinate employee to fail promptly to report the relationship to the appropriate supervisor.

Responses to Violations of Policies

Protection Against Retaliation

No individual involved in the complaint procedure shall suffer retaliation as a result of such participation. Retaliation exists when action is taken against a complainant or participant in the complaint process which affects his or her employment, academic, or business status which is motivated in whole or in part by his or her participation in the process. Retaliation may be found even where the underlying complaint is found to have no merit.

Disciplinary Actions for Violation of the Sexual Harassment Policy

Faculty and staff/employees who violate this policy are subject to disciplinary action, up to and including discharge. Students who violate the policy are subject to disciplinary action, up to and including expulsion in accordance with the provisions of the University's Student Conduct Code. Guests and other persons who violate the policy are subject to corrective action, which may include removal from campus and termination of contractual arrangements.

Malicious Allegations/Complaints: False Information

Any individual who knowingly files a false complaint under this policy, or who knowingly provides false information to or intentionally misleads University officials who are investigating a complaint, may be subject to disciplinary and/or corrective action.

Confidentiality

To the extent permitted by law, the confidentiality of each party involved in a sexual harassment investigation, complaint, or charge will be observed, provided it does not interfere with the University's ability to investigate the allegations or take corrective action.

The University will employ generally accepted principles of progressive discipline in regards to any faculty member or other employee who, following investigation and hearing, is found by the University to have engaged in sexual harassment warranting disciplinary action. Depending on the circumstances of the particular case, disciplinary action may warrant verbal warning, written warning, suspension with or without pay, or, in the most serious cases, termination of employment.

All members of the University community and guests are responsible for knowing and understanding the University's Sexual Harassment and Other Prohibited Conduct policy. Employees and faculty members who do not understand the policy should contact their department head or director.
