

LOEX Quarterly

Affiliated with Eastern Michigan University's Bruce T. Halle Library

Volume 33, Number 1-2, Spring-Summer 2006

Now that most of the annual instruction conferences are behind us, it is time to evaluate and consider our own approaches and attitudes toward instruction.

I encourage you to take this summer as an opportunity to transition your program into exactly what you want it to be. The ideas, templates, and pilots have been unveiled. Now, it is time to use this collective experience to our advantage.

Take some time to peruse the presentations from this year's LOEX conference, whether or not you were in attendance. You will not be disappointed.

<http://www.emich.edu/public/loex/handouts/slides2006.html>

Enjoy the summer,

Theresa Valko
Director

What's Inside

Integrating Information Literacy into the Curriculum: a four year plan for design students 2

Jennifer Benedetto Beals

TechMatters: 4

Bending the Browser to Your Will: Firefox Extensions

Krista Graham

Conflict Resolution and Academic Library Instruction 6

Michael Lorenzen

Ross' Rave: 10

What Would Oprah Do?

Ross LaBaugh

Author contact information 12

Please consider submitting your instruction-related research, reviews, and reports. Articles are accepted continually.