On this day...In 1916 - The Official Flag of the President of the United States was adopted. President Wilson issued Executive Order 2390, which officially changed the flag to a new design. In the new flag, the eagle was almost entirely white with black stitching, except for the beak, legs and feet which were in yellow. The arrows were also white, though the olive branch was in color (green leaves and light green olives). There were thirteen clearly defined white cloud puffs in an arc, with the rays of the glory in gold. There were four large stars, one in each corner.
