Regents appoint Moran, Ripley

Patrick R. Moran, director of alumni affairs at Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio, was appointed director of alumni relations by the Board of Regents at its September meeting.

Moran, 34, replaces Dr. James Brunnemer who was promoted to director of development at EMU earlier this year.

Moran earned his bachelor's degree in business administration from Wright State University in 1972. In 1976, he was appointed the first director of alumni affairs at that university. In that position he developed operational systems, financial structures and alumni programs and started two alumni publications.

Moran also worked as building operations and equipment manager on the Physical Education Building Administration offices at Wright State. He has been an active member of the Council for Advancement and Support of Education since 1976 and served as treasurer for the State Universities of Ohio Alumni Directors.

His appointment is effective Nov. 5.

Lawrence A. Ripley, manager of financial systems at Brunswick Corp. in Muskegon, was appointed associate director of University Computing by the Board of Regents at its September meeting.

Ripley, 43, earned his bachelor's degree in business from Indiana University. He has worked as a systems analyst/programmer for Indiana University, Systems Science Corp. in Bloomington, Ind., and as a systems analyst for the Indiana State Highway Commission. He also served as a systems engineer for International Business Machines, as an assistant manager for the American Fletcher National Bank and was president and founder of Financial Accounting Services, Inc., a data processing service organization.

For three years, Ripley worked for the Brunswick Corp. in Skokie, Ill., and concurrently served as manager of financial systems development for the Mercury Marine Division in Fond du Lac, Wisc.

His appointment is effective immediately.

President John W. Porter and Chia-Tsung Pao, president of Haulien Normal College in Taiwan, signed a formal exchange agreement between the universities they represent at the start of the September regents meeting.

Regents approve AFSCME contract

A new one-year agreement between EMU and Local 1666 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees and the AFL-CIO, representing approximately 209 maintenance, food service and skilled-trades employees here, was recently approved by the Board of Regents.

The contract will extend from July 1, 1984 to June 30, 1985.

In addition to provisions carried forward from the current AFSCME agreement, the new contract provides an adjustment of five and one-half percent in employee hourly wage rates and allows wage rates effective during fiscal year 1983-1984 for probationary employees to remain at their current rates through June 1985.

The contract also extends the current 90-day probationary period to 180 days for employees hired after Aug. 31, 1984.

The wage improvements provided under the new agreement are expected to cost the University $189,588 during the 1984-85 fiscal year.

The contract was ratified by the Local 1666 membership in September.

Regents Summary

The Board of Regents acted on the following agenda items at its September meeting:

—Beginning with the 1985 winter semester, 240 courses here will carry a special course/laboratory fee for those enrolled, as approved by regents.

The 1985 Winter Course Bulletin will carry a general announcement about the fees as well as list fees charged for individual courses. The fee structure will allow the assessment of $5, $10, $15, $20, $25 or the actual cost of instruction for

Campus Capsules

EMU Symphony Orchestra and Concert Winds to Perform

The Department of Music will present the EMU Symphony Orchestra and Concert Winds Thursday, Oct. 4, at 8 p.m. in Pease Auditorium.

Elizabeth A. H. Green, professor emeritus of the University of Michigan, will conduct the Symphony Orchestra in "Overture to Rosamunde" by Schubert. Russell Reed, Director of the orchestra and associate professor of music at EMU, will conduct "El Salon Mexico" by Aaron Copland.

Green is the author of "The Modern Conductor," a book used in many conducting classes throughout the country. She is teaching classes for conducting students in EMU's Music Department through Oct. 9.

The concert is free and open to the public.

For more information call 7-4380.

Commencement Speaker, Honorary Degree Recipient Nominations Due

Commencement Speakers and Honorary Degree Recipients may be nominated by any member of the University community, or by members of the college being recognized at each commencement.

Nominations for April, 1985 Honorary Degree Recipients will be accepted until Monday, Oct. 15.

Nominations for a speaker for the December, 1985 Commencement will be accepted until Friday, Feb. 1, 1985 and nominations for Honorary Degree recipients until Friday, March 15, 1985.

For forms or for more information, contact Mary Kauper at 7-2237.

EMU's Organ Recital Series Begins Tonight

The EMU Music Department begins its 1984-85 organ recital series Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 8 p.m. in Pease Auditorium.

The opening recital will feature Janice Beck, organist, and Katherine Eberle, mezzo-soprano. Beck will perform works for organ by Bach, Haydn, Mendelssohn, Vierne and Langlais. She and Eberle will perform Missa "in Simplicitate" by J. Langlais.

For more information on the Tuesday concert or recital series, call the Music Department at 7-4380.

The concert is free and open to the public.

EMU Presents Art Work of Sandra Rice

EMU will host "Self Image I," a selection of drawings and prints by Sandra Rice, in the Intermedia Gallery of McKenny Union, now through Friday, Oct. 5.

Rice is currently a senior at EMU working toward a Bachelor's Degree in Fine Arts. Her specialty is drawing and printmaking.

Intermedia Gallery is open Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., and noon to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Rice's exhibition is free and open to the public.

For more information, contact the EMU Art Department at 7-1268.

Honors Program to Sponsor Undergraduate Research Grants

Each year, the EMU Honors Program will offer a limited number of $250 Undergraduate Research Grants to encourage research partnerships between honors students and faculty. These competitive grants are intended to provide assistance to faculty members actively engaged in research projects; to defray the costs of such projects; and to give students the opportunity to learn pure and applied research skills under professional guidance.

Student applicants must be members of good standing of the Honors Program and faculty participants must be regular, full-time members.

Proposals must be submitted by Monday, Oct. 31 for the winter semester, by Thursday, Feb. 28 for spring/summer semesters and by Sunday, March 31 for the 1985 fall semester.

Spelbring reflects on EMU, life accomplishments

Dr. Lyla M. Spelbring has done more in 61 years than most people could do in an entire lifetime. Her 10 years at EMU are only a small chapter when paging through her life accomplishments.

Spelbring, who retired Sept. 3 as head of the Department of Associated Health Professions, is a native of Clinton, Ill. She earned her bachelor's and master's degrees from Western Michigan University. In 1981, she received her doctorate from the University of Michigan. In the 1950s, she worked as an occupational therapist at the Veterans Administration hospital in Richmond, Va., and for the Easter Seals of Michigan in Detroit. She also served as assistant chief of occupational therapy at the VA Hospital in Battle Creek. In 1957, she began a 13-year commitment as director of occupational therapy at University Hospitals in Ann Arbor.

In addition, Spelbring also holds the rank of colonel (retired) in the U.S. Army Reserve and served in the U.S. Marine Corps Women Reserves during WW II.

Along with Spelbring's vast professional history is a high degree of involvement in professional groups. She is a member and past president of the Michigan Occupational Therapy Association and a member of the American Occupational Therapy Association, the Michigan Kenny Rehabilitation Association, the Michigan Society of Multiple Sclerosis, the Michigan Easter Seals Professional Advisory Council, the American Occupational Therapy Foundation, and the World Federation of Occupational Therapists.

For Spelbring, many experiences at EMU have been memorable and rewarding. During her leadership many changes took place, all of which she recalls with pride.

"I came to Eastern in 1974 as an associate professor. One year later I became head of the newly created Department of Occupational Therapy," Spelbring said. "What I found most rewarding was helping to revise the occupational therapy curriculum and seeing it become part of the newly formed umbrella-type Department of Associated Health Professions," Spelbring said.

"With its three programs; Occupational Therapy, Health Administration, and Medical Technology, the department has grown and is well developed," she said.

Spelbring enjoys the company of others, and acknowledges the good times she's had with the faculty and staff. "Everyone has participated in making our program a success," Spelbring said, "and a great deal of that credit belongs to the dean of the college, Betty King," she said.

"She is the only woman dean on campus, and is qualified for the job. She's done so much for the department including making space for other programs and developing support groups among the faculty and staff."

Spelbring is a worker, and strives for what she believes. "I feel I am a real participant and enjoy sharing and being a leader. Of course, what I've found most challenging in my career was making the transition from practitioner to an administrator. The academic setting is more time consuming. However, I've enjoyed working with everyone," she said.

Retirement for some usually means withdrawal from work. For Spelbring, retirement is not the end of the line. "I plan to come back to Eastern from time to time and make some contributions to the department," she said, "I also want to travel and visit other occupational therapy programs."

Among other things to occupy her spare time, Spelbring plans to visit family, do a little writing, maybe trace her genealogy, and do some bodywork on her 1974 Volkswagon convertible. "I may buy a house and remodel it, or have one built," she said. "I plan to do everything and nothing."

Language and International Trade: The 30 Hour Business Core

Students entering the L&IT program as of Sept. 5, 1984 must satisfy the 30 hour Business and Economics area of their curriculum with 300 level courses in business and economics. There are three exceptions: 1. a 200 level course is required for the student's minor in some operational area of business; 2. a 200 level course could be acceptable as an elective in the student's minor in operational area of business as approved by an adviser in the L&IT program or 3. a student entered the program prior to September 1984.

Questions about this policy should be directed to John R. Hubbard, head, Language and International Trade.

Who Can Take HONORS Classes?

Beginning Winter 1985, only those students who have been officially admitted into the University Honors Program will be allowed to register for Honors classes. Currently enrolled students must have attained a grade point average of 3.3 GPA in high school and a composite score of at least 25 on the ACT or a combined score of at least 1150 on the SAT. All students must fill out an application, submit letters of reference and write an essay outlining their past achievements, leadership abilities and future goals. Once students have been admitted into the program, their membership will continue as long as they register for at least one honors class each semester and maintain the minimum 3.3 GPA.

Questions should be directed to Bob Holkeboer, director, 7-2178.

Benefits update

Notice to Employees Age 65 or Older

During the past year you were notified that the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 (TEFRA) contained provisions that affected your group health care coverage. Briefly, TEFRA required that Medicare not pay benefits, if any are payable, for active employees and their spouses age 65-69 who are covered by employer-sponsored health insurance plans until all benefits have first been paid by the employer's plans. You were also notified that if you or your spouse did not enroll for Supplemental Medical Insurance (Medicare Part B) when first eligible, a premium penalty would be assessed for each year you or your spouse were eligible but did not enroll.

On July 18, 1984, TEFRA was amended to eliminate the late enrollment penalty for active employees and their spouses who delayed signing up for Medicare Part B. The waiver of penalty applies for the period in which an individual continues to be covered under an employer's group health plan as an active employee.

If you delayed enrolling in Medicare Part B and are paying a late enrollment penalty because you were working at the time you became eligible, you may have the penalty revoked. To determine whether you are eligible to have the penalty removed, you should contact the local Social Security office. You must make your request by Sept. 30, 1984, and request that Social Security remove the penalty charge for it to be effective in the next quarter beginning Oct. 1, 1984. Otherwise, the charges will not be removed until the first day of the next quarter (i.e., Jan. 1, 1985).

Employees and spouses currently enrolled in Medicare Part B may disenroll for this coverage by contacting the local Social Security office by Sept. 30, 1984 to be effective Oct. 1, 1984. Further information is available from the local Social Security office. If you choose to disenroll from Medicare Part B coverage, you should retain your Medicare Hospital Insurance (Medicare Part A).

If you plan to retire or terminate employment from EMU before Nov. 1, 1984, you should not disenroll yourself or your spouse from Medicare Part B.

The new TEFRA amendment allows a special enrollment period for employees and their spouses who delay signing up or disenroll for Medicare Part B coverage because they are covered by an employer health plan. The special enrollment period for Medicare Part B coverage is available at retirement, termination of employment, the date when primary health care coverage ends under the employer plan, or age 70. When the earliest of these events occurs, contact the local Social Security office immediately.

FIPSE Comprehensive Program for 1985

The Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education supports a broad range of projects that respond to immediate problems or issues in postsecondary education. For 1985, the following funding priorities have been established: 1. Learning important and difficult subjects and skills, including math, science, writing, foreign languages, reasoning, analysis and problem-solving; 2. Ensuring access to postsecondary education by improving course program completion rates and by increasing and improving the articulation between high school and college and between two-year and four-year colleges; 3. Providing education for a changing economy by providing educational programs and services for workers, unemployed individuals, businesses and communities; 4. Understanding educational uses and implications of the new technologies such as computers, television and other electronic communication media; 5. Improving graduate and professional education by increasing access to postsecondary educational institutions at the graduate level and by reforming post-baccalaureate programs; 6. Enhancing teacher education and cooperation with the schools by developing teacher education programs, teacher inservice programs and cooperative programs between high schools and colleges; and 7. Strengthening organizational capacities to improve learning by enhancing institutional leadership and management, the abilities of faculty and other staff, and resources and incentives for improvement.

The Fund requires a preapplication for this competition. The deadline for submitting the preapplication is Nov. 29, 1984. For guidelines and application forms, contact Cheryl Kozell at 7-3090.

Training Personnel for the Education of the Handicapped

The Department of Education is accepting applications for projects to increase the quantity and improve the quality of personnel to educate handicapped children and youth. A Nov. 9 deadline has been set for projects addressing the following priorities: 1. preparation of special educators; 2. preparation of related services personnel; and 3. preparation of personnel to provide special education and related services to newborn and infant handicapped children and the preparation of related services personnel.

ED also has established a deadline date of March 21, 1985, for Parent Organization Projects under the Training Personnel for the Education of the Handicapped Program. This priority supports grants to parent organizations to provide training and information to parents of handicapped children and youth, and to volunteers who work with parents to enable those individuals to participate more effectively with professionals in meeting the educational needs of handicapped children and youth.

For further information on this program, contact Cheryl Kozell at 7-3090.

—Approved the name change of the Department of Home Economics to the Department of Human, Environmental and Consumer Resources.

The purpose of the name change is to better reflect the contemporary philosophy of the home economics field. The new name is designed to: attract and appeal to a variety of students; reflect the basic purpose and philosophy of home economics, which is to promote the quality of life for individuals and families; be understood by potential employers, administrators and potential funding agencies; and maintain and promote departmental accreditations as well as have scholarly appeal.

—Accepted nine educational grants totaling $292,686. The two largest grants, totaling $189,300, were awarded to EMU's Institute for the Study of Children and Families from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

Of that amount, a $119,300 grant was given to the institute for the project "Analyzing Abuse in Family Foster Homes." This project will collect and analyze data on the improper treatment of children by their foster parents. The other $70,000 grant was given to the institute for the project "National Foster Care Education." This project is designed to reduce child abuse and improper treatment of children in foster care through the development of training materials for foster parents and the child-placing agencies.

—Expressed strong opposition to Proposal C, slated to appear on the ballot facing Michigan voters in November. The regents opposition was expressed in a formal resolution received by the board which states Proposal C would "in effect, cripple representative government in Michigan" and cost the state "at least $950 million in revenues." Proposal C, known as "Voter's Choice," would require a popular vote on the adoption of any new tax or any legislative change in the base or rate of a state or local tax that would result in an increase in revenue.
