STUDENTS WILL HEAR FINE LECTURERS

Lecture Course is Best Ever Offered to Students of Normal

The Normal Lecture Course again offers to the collegiate and student in Ypsilanti a rare opportunity for education and entertainment. The course this year includes some of the most brilliant orators on the platform at any present-day lecture meeting. The course is given in a hall provided without charge by the state, made possible by offering this superior course at a very low price. The attitude from the front has failed to interest the general public for general concerts that comes from attending with a desire of lectures and entertainments as this.

The first number will be a lecture by a man of national reputation as a lecturer on a subject on which he now carries his most extended researches. "Governor Stanley has brought to the Ypsilanti audience his admired character, his sobriety, his highmindedness and his wisdom; his rare capacity and his unyielding courage. His speech will be a living picture of the life and work of his time, and will be the most thorough and most comprehensive in study and research that this lecture audience is likely to hear. It will be an inspiration to the students and a thrilling appeal to the younger generation of today and tomorrow."

The lectures are as follows:

FIELD NOTES

Dance of Animals and Former Normalities

Hayes Kneeland, Jr., will open this year in the grade school of Ypsilanti

Lavinia Woolson has received her A.B. from the U. of M. this spring and is now working for her B.A. at the University of London.

First person who has been an inmate in the Insane Asylum of Ypsilanti for several years, is now gaining recognition in Los Angeles.

Professor Frederick Alexander has just signed a contract with the New York Symphony Orchestra for a manne Norton Course to be given on the Normal Course. Mr. Norton will conduct and the personnel of this great orchestra will be the same as when it appears in Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati and other great cities of the country.

He and "Jud" Swatted the Ball Hard this Summer

Mr. Allan B. Hyames, who graduated in 1913 and was president of the senior class that year, visited in Ypsilanti the first part of the week. He attended the University of Michigan, one year where he is specializing in the work in geology. Mr. Hyames was one of the star athletes on the University team. He did a great deal during the summer and managed to keep his batting average a little over 300. "Joel" Hyames, who played short-on the faculty all-war team of 1913, has also been hitting over the .500 mark on the same team. "Cuddie" has taken up hometown baseball, this year.

A good fountain pen is an essential to the work of the teacher or the student. It is a gift article for the holiday. Fountain pens are no longer considered to be expected by American pen users. The Westerner considers them to be something extra. His fountain pen will take place at the 14th next Saturday should be deserving of both students and faculty.

believe that it is only necessary to be careful. I would not advise staying here too long as you easily get into the ways of the East and lose your ambition. People never forget how small they laughed at me when they first arrived.

I expect to return in three years together. It costs us about $25 a month each to live and we live very well. Some places it costs more and some less. It gets very warm sometimes but you do not notice the heat any more than in the "States." I have been in excellent health since being here and read ad. of Opera House in this paper.

FOOTBALL FANS ARE JUBILANT

Predict Bad Luck for Normal's Opponents on Football Field

Normal prospects for 1911 football team are bright. The State Normal has one of the best looking aggregations it has had for years. Several of the old veterans are back and the old warriors are showing a good deal of "pep" in the strenuous drill of the mystic. Coach Wilson, who is returning all aspirants that he has no favorites and that everyone will have an equal chance. The most chosen will be the last and if a player at any time, who is not on the team, makes good, he will be given a place on the team.
