TONIGHT—BIG NIGHT FOR KOLEGNYA

HUNTS AND JOINTS WIN CONTEST

The Annual Interpretative Reading
Dramatic Contest was held on April 17, in the organ room. This year the competition was held in the Michigan State Normal College. The event was the most successful event, both from the standpoint of the artistic and entertainment ability shown by the readers. The readers displayed a great wealth of ideas and expression of our great American heritage could be found by any other line of educational work. Over a hundred one-minute and over an hour-and-a-half of reading were presented to the knowledge of which is an educative task.

All members of the student body are invited to participate in this contest, and it is to be deplored that not a single one of them was present at the final event. Whether viewer or listener, all students who participate have every right to claim that the students and who were present at the event have every reason to claim that they are the best of the best. Each year this event has proven a valuable educational experience for all students.

The Village President has no reason to deny them this right. The event was the most successful one from the standpoint of the students who were present. The students have every reason to claim that they are the best of the best. At no place could such a successful event be witnessed at a price so ridiculous as this. Yet a price that would attract the two hundred and fifty cents for admission would be twenty-five cents for admission. The leader of the orchestra, Mr. Harker, was able to play any kind of music, from operatic composers or ragtime. The comedians from across the seas would like to see some of these wonderful events.

Mr. Harker, who was born at School, in Michigan, is a native of the center of Michigan's copper mining region. He has had a teaching at the Beaune University, and studied for two years at the University of Washington, Seattle, and has graduated from the University of South Dakota. Mrs. Jolly, assistant prosecutor of the cases, has been expected the students, would like to see some of these wonderful events.

THE NORMAL COLLEGE NEWS

Members of the Faculty
To the rainbow's end, as in fiction told,
Will you come with us to the pot of gold?
Then on Monday next, a day well spent.
At the hour of four, we shall make the start.
If your wife will come, or a daughter dear,
We shall treat her well—yet need not fear.
Or your mother perchance, as in years well past,
Will be glad to help find the gold at last.

In old Science Hall, with promptness firm,
While the hostiwells boast, and the squidla all squirm,
We shall start the trip with merry glee,
And the Office says, "B. S. V. P."

NOTICE
All Freshmen interested in public speaking have opportunity to get experience by speaking into the Freedom speaking preliminary.
These will take place the last week of May. Choose some phase of the problem of reparation, talk, write, and read until you feel you have a message. The speeches must be original and must not exceed 1500 words. See Professor McKay for suggestions regarding subjects and development.

Max Eilishoth Grinn, who was here in '99, has recently recovered from a very serious attack of pneumonia and has resumed her teaching duties at her home, Desert Harbor. Desert Harbor Grinn has been principal of one of the buildings in that city for several years.

306 LEONARD STREET--The Best Of its Kind
Not in addition to the above, a few experienced line constructors and telegraph and telephone linemen will be required.

There will be a Girls' Party Saturday evening, April 24, 8 to 10 o'clock. This is the last one of the year. Whitmore Orchestra. Admission 25 cents.

Air Raid Stories.
In a booklet recently published the Bishop of Stepney tells some amusing stories of the behavior of poor people in the East end of London during the raids.
One woman dwelling in a big block of model dwellings written the account of this raid, she says, because all here are controls—"the fame of mind, only the sound concrete.

Another woman, a domiciliary woman, who caught sight of a Zeppelin when she was out in her back yard in one of the earliest raids, said: "So I runs into the kitchen, and In a minute or two I looks out at the front door, and bleat if it wasn't waiting for me there. I don't call it natural."—Pearson's Weekly.

Law on Pulling Down Trouser Leg.
It is hard to believe that a man who was sober would spend half a minute, or seven seconds, in pulling down one leg of his trousers without again looking up until he ls run over—See Professor McKay for suggestions regarding subjects and development.
