Big Song Fest on the Campus

Evening was faultless, people responsive.

Perhaps the most satisfactory aspect of the festival on the campus was the way in which the songs were sung. The Stewards of Harmony, under the direction of Dr. Hoyt, will address the Methodist College on the 25th of July, presented to the people by the orchestra this evening, about a thousand of the students and faculty were present to hear them. As Prof. Jeffers has said some very interesting experiences in the past year.

Friends of David Vlashe, "I will be certain to come and see Mr. Crandall Wheeler, Florence Gee, Read Pierce, Miss Alma Godinet, and the new community orchestra, about a thousand of the people spent in hearing them, as Prof. Jeffers has said some very interesting experiences in the past year.

The program was admirably arranged in groups as Songs of Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow. A group of the alumni of America came together, and along with them we Mar-Mem-sa, sung in French by Mr. Lin-Mayes. Following this group came Old Black Joe, Michigan My Michigan, and others—the songs of Yesterday.

Miss Martha Johnson, Miss Genevieve Compton, and Miss Gladys Farrington gave a generous share of applause following "The Dance of the Alabamians." Some of the best of the music of today included the most popular songs of the Great War. The popular choral singing of the following the customs of the last three years, the students taking the rural work are enrolled in classes covering from twenty to twenty-five conducted by county normal teachers, of whom there are nine here this summer. These classes observed in the Training School according to a schedule arranged by Superintendent Roberta at the beginning of the summer session.

The new feature in this summer’s work is the provision made for discussion of some of the questions that interest the people most. These discussions are held every Monday afternoon instead of Tuesday, and are carried on during the first fifteen minute period of the day. The discussion is conducted by the group of students and faculty members who have had some experience in the field of education.

Sunday School Teaching.

The Training School takes its part in the summer activities as a Demonstration School. The schedule of lectures includes the demonstration of three grades, three from the kindergarten and two from the primary grades, which all grades from the kindergarten through the eighth grade are open daily from nine to twelve for practice. The program offers a special course for teachers who want to improve their teaching methods, and also for those who are beginning to teach for the first time."

The Normal College News. Published at the MICHIGAN STATE NORMAL COLLEGE.

When the BAZARETTE, the News of the Normal College, went into press last spring, the enthusiasm with which it greeted the "dearth" of Press in Michigan Avenue was fully justified. It has been a great success, and in fact has been the one news item that has been heard from the halls of all the Normal schools of this state.

The BAZARETTE, the News of the Normal College, has become a real factor in the life of the Normal College. It has given the students a real outlet for their creative powers, and has furnished them with a means of expressing their ideas and opinions. It has also given the students a chance to learn the art of writing, and has made them more conscious of the importance of the written word.

The BAZARETTE, the News of the Normal College, is a real success. It has fulfilled its purpose, and it is to be hoped that it will continue to do so for many years to come.

Devereaux Players

Here Friday

The summer school is to have a treat for Friday in the coming of the Devereaux Players, who are the leading dramatic company in the afternoon and evening.

It has been the policy of the school for some years, to secure some first-class company of actors for the summer school, so that it always receives the most enjoyable events of the season. Last year, the Devereaux Players, Stuart Walker and the Fortune Players and the Columbia Players have been here.

The Devereaux Players, who are due for this year for the entire summer in New York, Mr. Crawford has returned from the stage, and the Devereaux Players are now the leading dramatic company appearing before the American audience.

Mr. Crawford played for two seasons with Sotheby and Marlowe and was for some time connected with the Arden Russell company. He is now in his eighth season as director of his own company.

He has made a great success of his engagements with Harvard and Columbia University, and wherever he has gone throughout the country, the leading critics of the country in writing of the Devereaux Players said that he had enjoyed himself too well to be either himself, or the present time of the critics.

The fact that two delightful characters have been selected will insure an afternoon and evening of amusement as well as the education that comes with high grade performances of great plays by competent artists.

"The Taming of the Shrew" and the "A Midsummer Night's Dream" are two of the most delightful comedies of the stage. "The Taming of the Shrew" is full of hilarious fun always well played and Shakespeare's great satire. "The School for Scandal," is filled with bright wit and humorous situations that always Captivate an audience.

PROF. CLARK SPEAKS IN ASSEMBLY
Published from Page One
The boys of ours had caught the vision behind them and aimed not what the prize would be to make the American ideal come true. France had no hope, then their kids of ours came to Belleau Wood, now raised the Wood of the Marne. We were there, we fought and we won. Our boys said they didn't come to re treat. We paid at awful price for that robustness of our boys. As a result of Chateau Thierry the heart of France was raised. This was the blow that made Germany fall. After Chateau Thierry I went into one of the hospitals, the boys lying on their cot asked, "What did the folks say at home?" I told them. I was also at Verdun. I arrived in Italy just after the Austrians had been thrown back. Every single day the Italians had met with victory after victory, with practically no arms and no money. The Austrians turned and the Italians suffered a most ghastly retreat. Though driven to the Piave the Italian in the end almost unified the Austrian back. Teach every one there. This bound our boys to Italy. The Italians are the most idealistic people in the world I know of. The idealism in them responded to the idealism in us. The poor peasant women turned candles before our flag, as they did before the Madonna. Decorated back in Paris, my work was there. I had a boy guide of 10, spoke fairly good English. As I boarded the ship, he, looking out across the sea, said "a safe voyage to you, tell the people we are going to win a great victory and will give you all the credit. I felt that remark was from the heart of the peasantry and if we ever have war with Italy it will be the fault of the men in control. The day of isolation is over, this country is known in Ypsilanti as
