In place of the usual lecture, a Senior assembly Tuesday, the Senior preceded to nominate Class Day participants. The election will take place next Tuesday. Each Senior is expected to bring his ballot to assist the Senior assembly Tuesday, the Senior, with a stately can, worn an ornamental woman who has been studying the service and the kindly consideration which program is a piano recital by Miss Rachel Richardson, a young American woman who has been studying during the past six years with Wagle Swiney in Paris. Miss Richardson's program is of unusual interest, ranging from the German classics, through Chopin and Liszt to the ultra-modern school of Ravel and Debussy.

"Merchant of Venice" Attracts Fine Patronage from Town and Gown

For S0l0iist:

We go to press too early to give account of the first performance of the all-college play, "The Merchant of Venice," but what may be the dramatic merit of the production there will be no doubt of its financial success. Some where around $500 had been received from ticket sales by Wednesday night, which, with the proceeds from the record-breaker for such sales on this campus.

The expenses of properly conducting and staging this play have been large, but the heavy sales warrant a handsome surplus for the use of the Oratorium Association, under whose auspices the play is being put on.

There are still a number of good seats left for tonight, and tomorrow, those who have failed to secure one should be on hand promptly this afternoon to pick up anything that other buyers may have overlooked.

COLLEGE CALENDAR

Today—Tea in conservatory for public school music students, Mines Foster and Vroman, hostesses. 4-5. Football with Central Normal at gym, 6:45. "Merchant of Venice," Normal Hall, 8 p.m.

Thursday, March 6—Piano Recital in Normal Hall, 8 p.m.

Miss Bly Quigley will spend this week-end in Pontiac.

May Mitchell is at her home in Battle Creek for the week.

Mrs. J. P. Jolly and Ruth Linden spent Saturday in Detroit.

Isabel Gorton and Zula Oakes will spend the week-end at Chicago.

The Pylon fraternity of Ann Arbor gives a party at Harnack's tonight.

Grace Mack attended a society party at M. A. C. last Saturday evening.

Hazel East entertained Misses Florence Smith of Pontiac this week-end.

Miss Sadie Schaffer, '84, of Cassopolis, was a guest of friends in the city this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Strong of Battle Creek visited her sister Florence here over the week-end.

Professor Forst entertained his German 11 class with a victrola concert Wednesday morning from 9 to 10.

A number of students are planning on seeing "Ben Hur" at the Detroit Opera House the week of March 10th.

Miss Leona Helene, '11, of Plainfield, and Miss Elsa Schelling of Mt. Clemens spent the week-end with Gracie Henneman.

Mr. F. D. Brown of Toledo, O., visited his daughter Ruth here over Sunday. Miss Brown is still confined to her room with neuritis.

A party of about fifty will come from Detroit by special car to attend the Georgia Richardson recital in Normal Hall next Thursday evening.

Helen McDonald and Elizabeth Mason entertained the Mines Laura Belknap, Gladys Habekom and Ethelwyn Sloan of Detroit over week-end.

Martha Angell spent the week-end with Jenniebelle Segoe at her home in Detroit. They both attended the Delta Phi Delta party Saturday evening.

Miss Mabel Guenther of the House of the House Department will take a leave of absence for the rest of the quarter. Her place is to be filled by Elizabeth Flumner of Mt. Pleasant.

Miss Amanda Paisement, '12, who is teaching in her home town at Hessan, attended the Phi Delta Pi banquet Saturday night and remained over until Tuesday to visit friends on the campus.

If the "beautiful" fails in sufficient quantities to provide sleighing Saturday, the Detroit college will enjoy a sleighride to Ann Arbor tomorrow evening and have an oyster supper at the Whitney hotel.

Miss Blackman's lecture on "Food Values," at St. Luke's parish house has been postponed to Friday, March 5th. It is hoped that a large number will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear the discussion. A nominal fee will be charged.

The Drama League, recently organized by Miss Gardner, in conjunction with the National Drama League, has begun its work in the study of modern plays and players. Last Thursday the members read "The Stronger," by Henrik Ibsen, the famous play-writer, and discussed its good and bad qualities.

The Adrian College World is the latest college publication to change from a monthly magazine to a weekly newspaper form. The size is the same as the News except that the W'OId runs four pages in place of our six. This makes the second college paper to take on this form within the quarter, the Hilldale Collegian being the other.

The following students have appeared on the programs of the Thursday four-o'clock rehearsals during the last two weeks: Singers: Zoe Trumbell, Catherine Chapman, Arva Fenton, Helen Wilkens, Williwew Baker, Nefie Johnson, Alvin Youngquist.

Planter: Helen Showman, Vera Richardson, Marjorie Sweet, Mabel Herriman, Clyde Nase, Miss Quigley.

Albion College has a social science club that has been investigating the conditions on the Methodist campus. It finds that some students have been getting through the college year on $300 a year by making big sacrifices. The ride rich class at Albion spends about $500 a year. However, the average yearly expense for men is found to be $300, and for women $311. Over 75% of the men work during the college year.

The organ class met Friday in Professor Alexander's room at five o'clock for tea. Later, in Normal Hall Miss Elaine V. Andrews gave a brilliant reading of Bach's Proeludium in B minor and Miss Goldschmid, who has been studying the organ only since October, played with remarkable poise and a good appreciation of organ style, the Mendelssohn C minor prelude. This was Miss Cornwell's debut as an organist.

The semi-finals of the emperor ball tournament were played Thursday evening before a crowded gymnasium. The winning teams were those captured by the Mines Cutters, Winters, Adams, McClain, and Travia. Friday evening the finals were played and the victorious team was Miss Adams. An interesting feature of this event is the fact that two-hundred girls have an opportunity of playing in the contest, and five hundred in the preliminaries.

Week-end visits: Enna Berry at Royal Oak, Charlotte Hubbard at Port Huron, Elva Trickey at Ann Arbor, Ruby Hoyt and Molly O'Connor at Northville; Misses Flora, Clair, Gladys Young and Margarette Stillwell at Big Rapids, Dorothy Henderson at Charlotte, Nellie Beaumont at Mason, Bennie McCoy at Milford, Gladys Cohn at Northville; Misses Mary Todd at Ann Arbor, Winnifred Heath and Louise Adams at Detroit, Helen Swett at Brooklyn, and Mrs. Burton at Detroit.

There was no Civic League meeting last Monday evening on account of Professor Everett's being out of town. At the date of March 10th, which was to have been made by Honorables W. W. Wedemeyer, was left vacant by his sudden and untimely death, the program for last Monday evening has been transferred to that date, when Professor J. A. King will talk on "The Commission, Form of Government," and Professor Everett on "Our Own City Government."

During the last week a playwright has come to light among the students of Kalamazoo college in the person of Miss Roberts. Williams, daughter of Prof. G. A. Williams and a member of the senior class. The play, which is her first production, is an Elizabethan drama entitled, "Prince Victor," and is to be given after the Winter vacation by the students of the literary class. It is 3745 scenes, and contains in addition to the main plot a number of songs.

An All-Frat Function

The four men's fraternities of the college have been discussing the plan of combining forces for an all-frat party, and April 11th, at the gym, is the date and place mentioned as available. A counter proposition is that of giving an all-frat banquet in place of the party. Banquets have been growing in popularity among the frats of late years, and an all-frat banquet has the merit of providing entertainment for those frat men who do not dance. It has the further merit of providing an occasion for a friendly talk together on topics in which the fraternities have a common interest.

A number of years ago there used to be considerable strife among the different frats on the campus, but the passage of years has made it plain that the problems of frat-ernity life are common to all, and there is less friction now than ever before. The time is ripe for an all-frat function of some sort, and it would be an excellent thing if something could be started this year with an eye to its repetition in future years.

What's in a Dress Suit?

A dress suit is a delicate proposition, from whatever angle you may view it. When a man hasn't anything else to worry about, he can sit down for a quiet smoke and picture his de- but in full evening regalia. Shivers chase up and down his spinal column as he thinks of how awful a dress suit might make him look, but then again, how pleased he would be if it turned out that he looked as handsome in one as, well, says Professor Lyman. Investing his dress suit is as risky as crossing the Rubicon wic to Caeser. Nobody knows how the dice may be loaded. Worst of all to the ambitious young stude, nobody knows how much the girls will giggle over his debut the next day. Girls are supposed to have a sense of sympathy, but they suspend the rules when it comes to dress suits.

One would think that they would try to cheer the young stude a wee bit, and even compliment him on his courage, but no sir, all they do is, "Oh girls, DID you see him?" As Carlyle said, "Heck, 'ts a sad world!"

FROM PARIS STUDIO

Normal Grad Studying Abroad With Mrs. Peocock Writes Home

"Normal students will be interested in the experiences of a Conservatory graduate, Dagmar Young, '11, of Belleview, who is studying music with Mrs. Eleanor Hazard Peocock, abroad. She says: 'Paris has been my home now for over five months, and in that time I have learned to like it very much. However, I must admit that at first I did not care for the noted city. It is not pleasant for a person to be placed in a foreign country without knowing the language and that was my position at first. Since I have been here, I have thought what a fine thing it would have been if I could have taken French in school, so as to have been able to make my wants known.

"As I knew no French, I had to write the address of the place that I wished to go to, or of the article I wished to purchase, in French and appear to be deaf and dumb; let the cocher or merchant make out as best he could what was written, I soon learned a few words, though first of all 'Merci' and 'Tu parles anglais,' meaning 'Thank you' and 'If you please,' two short sentences, but a great deal of help when one is traveling.

"I soon secured a French teacher, and now have a lesson every other day. The professor I study voice with speaks French, Italian and Spanish, but no English, so you see I am obliged to know a little French.

"Nearly all my time is spent with my music. At first I took four lessons a week, but now I am only taking two. Much time has been given to practice, and then the concerts must be at­tended, with now and then a grand opera. Although I have had much to do, I have managed to go sight-seeing many times.

"The Louvre is the most important public building in Paris, both architecturally and on account of its treas­ures of art. The most noted collection of pictures in the world is found here. I have been told that one could walk for half a day, not stopping to study the pictures and statues, and then the concerts must be attended, with now and then a grand opera. Although I have had much to do, I have managed to go sight-seeing many times.

"The Luxembourg Gardens, which are directly across the boule­vard from my room. This garden is the only remaining Renaissance gar­den in Paris, and is open daily from early morning until dusk, and I, have heard, the most frequented promenade in old time Paris. The garden contains a few lions, and not many flowers. Squares enclosed by trees and open spaces for children's games and for the display of sculptures are the pre­vailing features. (I am sure you could go to the Luxembourg Gardens, where the winter sports are to be enjoyed, and then with Borch, Monsel, Véron, Florence and Naples, sailing for the grand old U. S. A. in April. While at Naples we will take a couple of days' trip to Capri and Sorrento, and take a peep at Mt. Vesuvius.'

Miss Laura Hunger of Marine City was the guest of Grace Carlton the past weekend.

Ethel Ball and Helen Hewitt delightfully entertained the members of the Halcyon Club Wednesday evening.

The Mason county club gave a dancing party at the gym Friday evening, with Miss McKenize as chaperone. Kilian's orchestra furnished the music.

Have you seen these saffron-bound pamphlets that the German students are toting around these days? There is some talk of impeaching Professor Ford on the charge of disseminating yellow literature.

The interclub preliminaries in debating have been postponed until March 15th. The school-at-large contest comes off March 15th. The results of these two contests gives us two teams,—one to meet M. A. C.

The Detroit Club gave an informal dancing party at Harnack's Hall Friday evening. About eighty couples attended, chaperoned by Professor Lathers, the patron of the club, and Miss Warner. "Old Glory," cherry trees, and a huge Detroit banner made a scene to the music.

The 'Varsity orchestra furnished the music. The judges for the girls' meet, which occurs March 15th and 14th, are Miss Vell Sanford, Miss Ellen Cochran and Miss Ethel Casho. Miss Sanford is the director of physical training in the Cass Technical high school; A. G. Erickson, '03, principal of Normal high; L. G. Hubbard, '13; C. Carnahan of Beta chapter at Central Normal; the patron, Dr. Hoyt; President McKenny; and Dr. W. H. Jones, A. Youngquist, '13, sang the fraternity song, while the rest of the fraternity joined in on the chorus. An hour's dancing followed the conclusion of the banquet.

About twenty-five alumni members of the fraternity were able to preside, while greetings and remembrances were received from as many more. The honorary guests were President and Mrs. McKenny, Prof. and Mrs. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer, Dr. L. H. Jones, Prof. and Miss Jaspar Laird, and Miss Johanna Alpermann.

GIVEN A FAVORABLE VOTE Normal's Budget to Be Reported to Legislature With Official O.K.

The legislative committees on the State Normal College, acting jointly, voted Tuesday of this week to report favorably to the state legislative Normal's budget for building improvements, as well as an increased current expense appropriation. The bill will be reported as soon as it has been gone over once more for errors of phrasing.

As it will be reported, the budget calls for building improvements totaling $504,000, divided as follows: Re-modelling main building, $116,000; new auditorium and conservatory, $35,000; addition to training school for high school department, $50,000; and new domestic science building, $50,000. The budget for current expenses calls for $182,000, an increase of $30,000 over the present appropriation.

MINERVA

The Minerva Literary club has enlarged its membership to twenty-four instead of sixteen, the former number. Nine new members have been taken in: Pearl Cooper, Mabel Tenhaaf, Ferne Underwood, Ruth Hitt, Eva Wrock, Nellie Beaumont, Rhodes Rosenthal, Edith Bard, and Mabel Oakley. An informal reception was given the new members in room 384, Wednesday evening from 7 to 8. At the regular meeting last Monday afternoon an interesting program was given. Marie Van Wetering talked on "Literary Landmarks in England." Hazel Deacon described a "Blackprint to Wales," and Esther Frank read some very interesting portions of Dorothy Wordsworth's "I Wandered Lonely as a Cloud." Pictures illustrating the subjects were shown. At the next meeting the girls study Ruskin, his home life, and his work.
