Last week's issue of the News went out to set the stage for what the week which M. C. H. C. has to offer young men in the real world of business. Young men who are this year graduating from high school. It is hoped that word of this will be conveyed to those who are interested in the higher level in college and in the business, that they may be interested in the courses offered at the college.

FINALE SPEECH-MAKING

Barbecue Monday Night Featured by Out-Door Speeches

Rain postponed the barbeque in a proposition until Monday night of this week, when a monster crowd turned out to listen to the evening speeches.

A platform had been prepared for the speakers of the evening. Beyond the platform a big bonfire furnished a cheerful illumination for the three thousand people that formed the audience.

After the band had furnished a salvo of lively airs, Prof. R. H. Laidlaw stepped to the front of the platform to introduce the first speaker on the program. This proved to be Prof. F. W. Brown, who gave wide range to his feelings of gratitude and enthusiasm over the securing of the handsome appropriation. The speech was a divinely inspiring testament for the future of the college.

Representative McLaughlin made several happy hits, especially those he referred to the three Macks, McKinney, McGregor, McLaughlin, and of course our friends the Small, Harbison, who gave wide range to his feelings of gratitude and enthusiasm over the securing of the handsome appropriation. He complimented President McKinney on his high ambition in dealing with legislative councils.

Professor Strong made one of his characteristic happy speeches, voicing his sentiments in that trenchant, informal style that Normal students have come to like so well.

President Jones made the occasion as he stepped out in the light of the gas torch to make his speech. He spoke of the manner in which the institution had grown in favor through the years, and stated his own, and the board of his brotherhood, that he had been unable to do more for the advancement of the appropriation during his own administration.

FUTURE COMEDY CONCERT

Sets a New Record

New Event Reaches High Level in Artistic Achievement and Originality of Conception

Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week saw the introduction of an event that seems bound to become a permanent feature in Normal's campus life, the all-college comedy concert. The concert was designed to take the place of the old minstrel show, which was, of course, a men's specialty. The News is unable to report Thursday night's program, on account of going to press too early, but if it lives up to the high standard already set the audience of three thousand people that formed the audience.

The program for the two evenings follows:

WEDNESDAY EVENING
College Days The Alpha Tau Delta Club; Y. W. C. A. The Ferris Institute Club, Miss C. L. Smith.
Mrs. Jared's Wax Figures The Ferris Institute Club; Maid One—Maid Two The Halycon Club; Men Without a Country The Halycon Club; The Kai Miss Margaret Grace; Alvise in Wonderland The Art Club; Boorish and Bohemian Miss Mabel G. Blake.

THIS MAKES US FEEL PLEASANT

The News editor cannot resist publishing the following appreciation from an Iowa reader, particularly as it commends the News for the one thing that a newspaper man makes his main business to achieve.

Burlington, Iowa, May 10, 1913.

Dear Editor—Enclosed please find dollar bill which settles my present year's subscription. I wish to commend you for the class of paper you are making the Normal News. You are giving us "news and news" is what we want. You are making the Normal seem real to us around. I can also appreciate what it costs you, Mr. Editor. For I have had a little experience at the work. Thanking you again for your efforts, I am,

Yours Truly,
C. F. BANGHART.

LEWIS JAMES COMMENDED

Sunday's News Tribune had the following well-merited praise for a Normal student:

"Lewis James, who has recently been appointed tenor soloist in the choir of the Woodward Avenue Baptist church, is one of the most promising young singers Detroit has heard in recent years. The quality of his voice is attractive, solid, without being hard, brilliant in the top voice and with a production that is easy and carrying. His range is envious for not only has he the high tones essential to his part but he is fortunate in a low voice of lovely ease and richness. Moreover, he has the advantage of youth, being not yet 20. Mr. James is a resident of Ypsilanti where he has pursued his studies in singing at the Normal college conservatory, being a member of the class of Archibald Jackson.

FINE SPEECH-MAKING

handsome testimonial of the citizens' enthusiasm.

President McKeary was then called upon to close the program. He spoke of his Michigan training, of his appreciation of the opportunity to return to his state at the head of the greatest normal school and of his earnest desire to enter as a citizen into the life of Ypsilanti. He expressed his pleasure at the cordial welcome that had been extended him by the citizens and students generally, and declared his intention of giving his best to the advancement of the college.

Following the speech-making, the audience filed past a huge array of sandwiches and coffees, from which they were helped to as much as they wanted. It must be confessed that this part of the evening was the least successful, although it is hard to see how anything else could have been planned, in view of the immense crowd that was present. The sandwiches did not make much of a hit, if the comment of those who partook is to be accepted, and the hurly-burly phase of the evening was decidedly subordinate to the program of speeches. Given in the open air, by the glare of the bonfires and a gas torch, the speech-making was unique and most enjoyable. The event being commemorated, the immense throng, and the speeches themselves, were the really significant facts of the evening.

Members and Alumni of the Zeta Phi sorority enjoyed a most delightful informal party at the Country Club Saturday evening. Out of town guests were Marion May, Highland Park; Noelma Heeke and Marguerite Gilder-sleeve, Grand Rapids; Faye Shrum, Detroit; Norma Baker, Plymouth, and Gladys Graham, Paw Paw.

Supt. E. E. Ferguson of Bay City gave an exceedingly inspiring address before the Seniors last Thursday on the selection of the teacher to supervise, parent, pistol, and herself. His remarks were illustrated from his own educational experience, and were interestingly put.

The third annual meeting of the Michigan Home Economics Association takes place in Ypsilanti tomorrow, the morning session beginning in room 30 at 9:30 o'clock. A notable group of workers in this field will give addresses at both the morning and afternoon sessions. The Household Arts Department will serve luncheon in the kindergarten room at twelve o'clock.

Practically the entire set of 500 tickets has been sold for the May Morning breakfast at St. Andrew's tomorrow morning. A delightful musical program has been prepared or the entertainment of the guests. Eighteen organizations have reserved tables, which will be decorated with their appropriate flowers where possible.

H. R. Pattingill, in last week's "Moderator-Topics," says: "Ye editor greatly enjoyed a visit to Normal College one day last week. There's a joyous spirit of co-operation in evidence and Pres. McKinney as a student on the Conservatory faculty next year, teaching Elementary Music. The Conservatory congratulates itself on having in its graduating class a capable student as Miss Glause and one so full of promise for a brilliant career as teacher.

Six of the colleges in the Intercollegiate Oratorical Association were represented in an informal meeting at the Science building last Wednesday afternoon to consider the charges against Viollet. No vote was taken, but the discussion tended to show that nothing contrary to the constitution or the precedents of the Association had been done. The next regular meeting of the Association takes place in December.

Miss Godfard is planning to take her field botany class on a trip to Huron, Michigan, this week. They will stay at Prof. Lather's cottage and hopo to collect many valuable specimens as well as become more familiar with plant life. The class will probably return Saturday night driving over to Dexter and taking the Michigan Central from there back to Ypsilanta.

Many things are going on in the Science building of which people who have classes in the other buildings are not aware. One of the late inventions is an automatic curtain machine which has been installed by Dr. Gorton with the assistance of his technic class. Dr. Gorton had the apparatus made by the local machine shop. It is located under the raised seats of the auditorium. Whenever it is desired to darken the room for experimental purposes a switch is thrown, and the curtains all run down darkening the room at once. The machine is so arranged that it automatically stops when the curtains are lowered, making it fool proof. This is but one of many improvements which has helped to make instruction so efficient in this science class.

FRIDAY, MAY 23

A Final Opportunity for the Class of 1913

It was extremely unfortunate that more Seniors were not out to hear Supt. McKenny's talk Tuesday and to hear of the plan of financing the Alumni Association. Most of the Seniors will go out next month as graduates of the Normal, and take their place among the 10,000 or so alumni of this institution. The Seniors have scarcely begun to realize how close at hand is this great transformation from student to alumnus. As the realization of the change draws upon them with greater and greater vividness, they can be pointed upon to give serious thought to their duties as alumni of the college.

Too often is it overlooked that alumni do have duties toward their alma mater. The vast majority are prone to regard their duty performed when they allow themselves to be coaxed back for an occasional visit to the old campus, or when they reserve a place at the annual banquets. Of course this attitude is not the one that an alumnus should have. He or she, as the case may be, owes far more to their alma mater than can be repaid in a life-time of co-operation. The alumni of the greatest normal school in the country should measure up in their loyalty to the greatness of their alma mater.

Much has been done to bind the alumni of this institution together. The reunion at the State Teachers' Association has become a splendid affair, and more and more the alumni return for Commencement week. This year there are planned six or seven reunions of former classes. An entire day has been given over to their interests, to be known as Alumni Day. It is hoped that as time passes the alumni of the Normal College will be banded together so effectively as to be able to make their influence seen in some concrete form on the campus. Unity and determination would make of our Alumni Association a potent factor in not only the lives of its members, but of the resident students as well.

The class of 1913 is given an opportunity to get behind a new plan and push. The plan is to make the Association self-sustaining by means of pledges of one dollar. The success of the plan will be assured if the present Seniors can show their loyalty, their grasp of the Association's value and needs, and their willingness to make possible a larger program of usefulness on the part of the whole body of alumni, by contributing generously and promptly. We anticipate that a class which has shown such initiative and spirit during its college existence will not be content with a berth in the cemetery any more after graduation than before.

"Pat" on the Appropriation

In no other particular did our legislators show a more discriminat ing or commendable attitude than in their treatment of the educational institutions. Odd in none of these particular was it sanguine and happier than in its broad-gauged policy, with the State Normal College. Provision is made for $100,000 per year for 16 years to be devoted entirely to buildings besides appropriations for running the school. That means $1,600,000, with which to make the plant fit the big and goodness of the best normal school in America. Renewed life, real, and efficiency of magnificent proportions will certainly result from this act. For years past this school has gone along with meagre appropriations considering its size and work, whilst the newer normals have been given a start. Now at the very beginning of Pres. McKenny's administration the grand old school comes to its own, and squar-es away for another 50 years of admirable service.—Moderator-Topics.

ALBION BEATEN IN TENNIS

Last Saturday the tennis teams again displayed their superiority over another college team, Albion, this time, being the victor.

The Misses Todd and Weint defeated the Albion girls in the first set 6-0, and had the second 4-2 when it was called on account of rain.

In the men's doubles, Capt. Bowen and Davis had an easy afternoon of it, winning 6-2, 10-6.

As only one court was in a usable condition, Davis started the singles, but on account of rain it was called with the score 5-3. Davis would have won easily as he was practicing some new shots, but not making any particular effort to win. The Albion man was so weak that Vance knew he could dispose of him any time that he wished.

The redeeming features of these matches was that it afforded a little experience in tournament playing for our teams.

The men have made marked improvement since the M. A. C. match and will be encouraged to greater efforts if they feel that the college is with them. This may be shown by turning out to the matches in large numbers.

Next Thursday Rinkin and Rein will represent the University, ex-doubles champions of Detroit, will play here against our team. Rein in is new to the east with the University team and should be in fine form for this match.

There is but one more match between Ypsi and the Collegiate Champions, that is with Hillsdale some time next week on the gymnasium courts.

WOBONR MORE BY ONE RUN

Normals Lose to Albion and Kalamazoo by Single Tally

Ypsi dropped the second game to Albion last Saturday by the score of 1-6. It was a good game and a pitcher’s battle from start to finish, Bell allowed 7 hits and fanned 11.

Albion’s run came in the ninth when Allford misjudged a fly, the hit going for three bases, and the Albion runner scored on a bunt.

The lineup was again shifted owing to Lewis’ absence, Gump taking his place behind the bat and Crouse going in at short. Moore played in the right garden, Jefferson in center, and Utford in left.

Curtis was hit on the wrist in the fifth and was unable to remain in the game. Doyle replaced him at third.

First inning
Ypsi—In the first inning Allford walked and Goodrich sacrificed. The first sacker dropped the bat, both men safe. Curtis popped to the left field. Bell flied to center, Allford and Goodrich advancing a base. Crouse fanned.

Albion—Bell fanned three men. Curtis let a slow one get by him but the runner got no farther than second.

Second inning

Albion—First man struck out. Second man bunted safely, steals 2nd. Bell strikes out the next. Fourth man grounded out.

Third inning
Ypsi—No hit, no run, no error. Albion—No hit, no run, no error. Bell struck out two men.

Fourth inning
Ypsi—No hit, no run, no error.

Albion—First man up hit for three bases. Scored on squeeze play.

KALAMAZOO

Kalamazoo defeated Ypsi in a tolerably good game of ball Wednesday by the score of 3-2. The teams were evenly matched, but the game was slow and uninteresting. The fact that the Normal team is considerably behind in the head by injuries has a great deal to do with its poor showing of late.

In the words of an observer, “The team plays pretty good ball considering the fact that it has only one ball fielder dropped fly. Goodrich out. Moore flied to right.

Albion—First man hit for safety. Bell struck out next one, runner stealing second. Bell struck out the next two.

Sixth inning
Ypsi—Alford fanned. Crouse fanned. Gump doubled to center, and Jefferson in 1-0. It was a good game and a pitch-fanning battle from start to finish, but it sure would help a lot if the students would show a little spirit and come out to the games. A team can’t play winning ball if the college isn’t with them. We may observe in passing that our George Willard is a splendid cheer-leader, and we missed him at the last game.

WEBSTER BANQUET

The Webster Club holds its annual banquet in the dining room of the Presbyterian church at six o’clock tomorrow evening. The members will gather between 5:30 and 6:00, as the plan is to sit down promptly as six. Nearly fifty plates have been reserved, which indicates a banner attendance. The club members feel rather jubilant about the program, the speeches were full of good advice and helpful suggestions for future teachers, and strong and beautiful thoughts for practical living. At the conclusion of the program, the members form in line and marched around the campus and through the corridors of the main building. They then dispersed to appear again Tuesday in the caps and gowns, Tuesdays and Thursdays having been determined upon as the days for wearing them.
