EMU's 1998-99 base budget set at $144.5M

University officials are hoping to receive a state appropriation ranging from $77.3 - $78.4 million and a one-time state supplemental payment of $1.5 million which may be used as a technology upgrade, according to announcements March 31 - April 2 during EMU's annual budget hearings.

"This week is about the needs of our institution, the realities of our institution," President William E. Shelton told the more than 100 people attending the hearings.

BY THE NUMBERS

Estimates for 1998-99:

Base budget:
$144,529,800

Tuition/fee increase:
2.3%

Enrollment:
23,080

Credit hours:
519,559

Participants listened to almost three dozen Above Base Budget Requests (ABBRs) from the University's five divisions and a review of auxiliary operations.

George A. Johnston, executive director of University planning, budgeting and analysis, said the University is in a good economic condition but is currently experiencing a "complicated financial period" with the construction of the Convocation Center and Eastern's new flagship building, the Halle Library.

The EMU 1998-99 general fund operating base is $144,529,800, up from $141,547,427 last year. The base budget includes funding for all previously approved programs and services, as well as contractual faculty and staff wage adjustments, changes in fringe benefit costs and other mandated contractual costs.

EMU's 1998-99 budget will be based on an enrollment plan that anticipates 17,715 undergraduates and 5,365 graduate students for a total of 23,080 students, down slightly from last fall's actual total of 23,203.

Student credit hours are expected to decline slightly to 519,559 (477,559 for academic departments and 42,000 for Continuing Education) from the current year's estimated 521,410 student credit hours.

During the hearings, representatives from each division identified critical needs to be funded in addition to the base budget. The ABBRs totaled $4.3 million, including $1.67 million in base budget proposals and $2.67 million in non-recurring investments. (SEE CHART.)

The Budget Council is scheduled to meet April 15 to discuss the ABBR proposals and the budget. Recommendations will be turned over to President Shelton and his Cabinet within two weeks for final determination. The budget recommendations are scheduled for action by the Board of Regents June 16.

Among the items announced during the budget hearings:

- The Board of Regents has committed to holding the 1998-99 tuition and fee increase to 2.3 percent, which will once again qualify EMU students and their families for Michigan's tuition tax credit.

- The state appropriation increase for EMU is anticipated to range from 1.5 percent to 3.0 percent. Gov. John Engler recommended an executive budget of $77.3 million for EMU and Senate Bill #911, as approved, provides a total of $78.4 million for Eastern. Appropriation hearings in the Michigan House of Representatives are scheduled for May, with EMU officials set to testify May 13.

- Compensation for employees represents 76 percent of the 1998-99 base budget, including 2,287.5 full time equivalent (FTE) faculty, staff and student employees. That includes 1,014.58 FTE faculty and 887.7 FTE staff.

- The number of first-time freshmen at EMU continues to increase, with the forecast at 2,425, up 42 from last year.

Barnes tapped for assistant coaching duties at Goodwill Games

Eastern Michigan University men's basketball coach Milton Barnes has been named as an assistant coach for the 1998 USA Men's Basketball Goodwill Games Team.

The Goodwill Games are July 19-24 in New York, N.Y.

Barnes will assist head coach Clem Haskins of the University of Minnesota. St. Joseph's University (Pa.) head coach Phil Martelli was appointed to the other assistant coaching position.

"It is a tremendous honor to be selected to coach a team that represents the United States in an international competition," said Barnes, who led the EMU

Eagles team to the 1998 Mid-American Championship and the NCAA Tournament this season. "It also means a lot to me to be reunited with Clem Haskins and to coach a team of our top college players in the Goodwill Games."

Barnes spent almost seven years as an assistant to Haskins at Minnesota. During his two stints as a Minnesota assistant, (1991-96 and 1986-88), Barnes helped lead the Gophers to three NCAA Tournament appearances, a pair of NIT appearances and the NIT title in 1993.

"Milt Barnes is one of the rising stars in coaching," Haskins said. "He is an excellent defensive strategist and has great rapport with young people and is familiar with my system.

"In picking a coaching staff you must have great chemistry so that you can carry that over to the team and develop a strong team concept," Haskins added. "I think I have two of the finest young coaches in basketball."

The Goodwill Games will feature eight teams, including: Argentina, Australia, Brazil, China, Lithuania, Puerto Rico, Russia and the United States. The U.S. team will feature top collegiate players who will be selected by USA Basketball Men's Collegiate Committee.

EMU Regents accept grants, contracts worth $2 million

Technology development, better coatings from soybean oil and better school lunches in southeast Michigan schools are among the programs that will benefit after the Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents accepted 55 grants and contracts totaling $2,010,456 at its regular meeting March 17.

Several of the grants received during the period Jan. 1 through Feb. 28 will provide support for work being done at the Centers for Corporate Training, directed by Walter DiMantova. Among them are $138,981 for UAW-Ford research and engineering, $137,800 for Oakwood Health System and $32,637 from City of Saline for the Crescive Die & Tool Inc. project.

Almost $150,000 will benefit the Center for Quality, including: $16,350 from Lear Corp.; $13,325 from Donnelly Corp.; $12,575 from Zener Electronics; $10,800 from ITT Automotive; $10,550 from Electra-Sound Inc.; $10,250 from CTS Corp.; $8,675 from Douglas Auto Tech Corp.; $8,175 from Harris Corp.; $7,050 from Alliant Techsystems;

$6,700 from Brenco Inc.; $5,875 from Zollner Pistons; $5,710 from Spartan Steel Coating Co.; $5,200 from Alliant Tech Systems; $4,985 from Meridian Products Division; $4,750 from Hutchinson F.T.S.Inc.; $4,500 from Herbert E. Orr Co.; $4,325 from American Axle & Manufacturing; $4,275 from Framatone Connector Interlock Automotive; and $4,275 from Link Engineering.

Other major grants include:
 • $343,780 from United Soybean Board for the study of improved alkyl coatings based on soybean oil;

 • $148,000 from the National Science Foundation for the nondestructive evaluation of large aperture optics with ultra-low optical absorption study;

• $114,150 from Steelcase Inc. for the study of erasable low gloss coating formulations;

• $89,860 from the Michigan Department of State Police for the School of Police Staff and Command, administered by Gerald Lawver;

NEW FACES

Familiar faces, workplace education specialists fill positions

EDITOR'S NOTE: Because of the large number of the new employees approved at the March 17 Board of Regents meeting, FOCUS had to divide the group into two parts. This is the second part of the group.

The appointments of several new Eastern Michigan University staff members were approved by the Board of Regents at its regular meeting March 17.

All appointments are effective immediately. Those appointed are:

• Terri Johnson, project coordinator, Learning Center. Johnson earned her bachelor's degree in communications and her master's degree in liberal studies at Eastern Michigan University. Prior to this appointment, Johnson served as volunteer coordinator for the Washtenaw County American Red Cross and the community liaison/job coach for the Michigan Ability Partners, both in Ann Arbor. She resides in Ann Arbor.

• George Linn, transfer equivalency evaluator, Office of the Registrar. Linn earned his bachelor's degree at Albion College and both his master's degree in school administration and doctoral degree in physical education from the University of Michigan in 1948 and 1961, respectively. He served as community college course equivalencies and program guides in Eastern Michigan University's Office of the Registrar, as director and associate dean of academic records and teacher certification, as associate and assistant registrar, and assistant professor, all at EMU. Linn resides in Ypsilanti.

• Elaine Martin, graphic artist, University Publications. Martin earned her bachelor's degree in art at Adrian College in 1986. She served as creative manager at Smithy Co., graphics manager at Chi Systems, both in Ann Arbor, and graphic illustrator at Spartan Electronics in Jackson before joining Eastern Michigan University.

Martin resides in Ann Arbor.
 • Jeff Mathers, workplace education specialist, Center for Management and Leadership. He earned his bachelor's degree in English education in 1987 at Michigan State University and his master's degree in English at the University of Delaware in 1989. Mathers served as computer instructor at Henry Ford Community College/UAW-Ford Skills Enhancement Program and as a skills enhancement instructor at Dearborn Heights Public Schools/UAW-Ford Skills Enhancement Program before joining Eastern Michigan. Mathers resides in Royal Oak.

• Coleen Moskal, workplace education specialist, Center for Management and Leadership.

Moskal earned her bachelor's degree in education at the University of Detroit and master's degree in reading instruction at Michigan State University. She has served as substitute teacher at the Department of Defense Dependent Schools in Bonn, Germany, and test administrator at the Bonn American High School. Moskal resides in Brighton.

• Diana Myrold, workplace education specialist, Center for Management and Leadership. Myrold earned her bachelor's degree in Sociology at Eastern Michigan in 1974 and her master's degree in reading at EMU in 1994. She served as instructor at the Rouge Academy, Henry Ford Community College/UAW-Ford Skills Enhancement Program; the Rouge Academy, Dearborn Public Schools/UAW-Ford Skills Enhancement Program; and the Romulus Adult Education program. She resides in Dearborn.

• Kirk Nagel, information/data management specialist, College of Education. Nagel earned his bachelor's degree at Eastern Michigan University in 1976. Nagel has worked on various projects while employed at EMU including the conversion of the undergraduate catalog and graduate catalog to the Internet, and the 1992 National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education Site Visit Report. Nagel resides in Dexter.

• Sharon Newman, workplace education specialist, Center for Management and Leadership. Newman earned her bachelor's degree from Wayne State University and teaching certificate from Central Michigan University. She served as coordinator and instructor for the Dearborn Public Schools/Henry Ford Community College/UAW-Ford Skills Enhancement Program. Newman resides in Redford.

• Judith Poger, workplace education specialist, Center for Management and Leadership. Poger earned her bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University in 1963 and her master's degree in reading from EMU in 1986. Poger has served as adjunct English and communications instructor at Henry Ford Community College and instructor at the Dearborn Public Schools Adult Education program. Poger resides in Westland.

• Angela Ripka, workplace education specialist, Center for Management and Leadership. Ripka earned her bachelor's degree in 1992 from Eastern Michigan University. She has served as mathematics and computer instructor at the UAW-Ford/Henry Ford Community College Skills Enhancement Program and at Troy High School. She was mathematics teacher for Romeo Adult Education and a tutor for Clarkston Tutorial Services. Ripka resides in Ypsilanti.

• John Shubsda, workplace education specialist, Center for Management and Leadership. Shubsda earned his bachelor's and master's in mathematics and education at Canisius College (New York) in 1971 and his MBA in quantitative methods at State University of New York at Buffalo in 1974. He served as instructor and coordinator, math and computers at the UAW-Ford/Henry Ford Community College Skills Enhancement Program at the Ford Dearborn Assembly Plant. Shubsda resides in Commerce.

• Ray Timm, research associate, geography and geology. Timm earned his bachelor's degree in biology from Northern Michigan University in 1992 and his master's degree in environmental studies from Eastern Michigan University in 1996. He has been an environmental consultant since March 1994 and has taught at Eastern Michigan and the University of Michigan, Dearborn. Timm resides in Ann Arbor.

• David Wagner, regional manager, continuing education. Wagner earned his bachelor's degree at the University of Michigan-Flint in 1996. He also served as interim regional manager of continuing education at Eastern Michigan and graduate teaching assistant. Wagner was managing general partner of Vacation Exchange and Travel in Highland, Mich., and vice president of marketing and sales, Fidelity Int. Mortgage Corp. in West Bloomfield. He resides in Whitmore Lake.

• William Whitmire, coordinator-graduate programs, College of Business. Whitmire earned his bachelor's degree in business administration at Cleveland State University and his MBA at the University of Toledo. He has served as coordinator of graduate business programs at Eastern Michigan University since 1984 in the capacity of visiting lecturer. He now continues those responsibilities as a professional-technical staff member. Whitmire resides in Delta, Ohio.

• Richard Wizzgird, workplace education specialist, Center for Corporate Training. Wizzgird earned his bachelor's degree in mathematics in 1968, his bachelor's degree in computer science in 1997, and his master's degree in mathematics in 1972 all from Eastern Michigan University. He served as mathematics/computer science instructor for Detroit Catholic Central in Redford. He resides in Saline.

• Mary Zdrojkowski, writing specialist, English language and literature. Zdrojkowski earned her bachelor's degree from Michigan State University in 1975, master's degree in education at Butler University (Indianapolis, Ind.) in 1987, and master's degree in English at Central Michigan University in 1992. Keal Fellowships help women faculty members with projects

By J. E. Bryson

The envelope please... That's a popular phrase this time of year and Eastern Michigan University is no exception.

Some recent honorees include the 1998 Josephine Nevis Keal Fellows.

Keal, who graduated from Michigan State Normal College in 1901, was concerned about the status of women at EMU. Keal bequeathed the University $50,000 in 1979 and a fellowship was established in her honor.

The Keal Fellowships are awarded each year to tenure-track female faculty members to augment their income and advance their professional competence and rank through professional study and research.

"This is the only fellowship of its kind that assists female faculty members in their upward track," said Joanne Hansen of the Women's Commission.

The fellowships are awarded through an application and approval process. The applications are submitted to a committee selected by the Women's Commission. The committee then reviews all applications and recommends the 12 finalists to the commission.

"There is no formal awards ceremony for the Keal Fellowships," said Hansen, "But the previous year's winners are invited to give a presentation of their work at the Women's Association conference, usually held in February."

Fellowships are to be used for including conducting original research, publishing research results, attending professional conferences to report research results and/or enhance professional advancement and for taking course work needed for professional advancement excluding tuition for courses applicable on a terminal degree.

This year's fellowships go to:

- Roberta E. Anderson, assistant professor of special education, who will work with Margaret (Jody) Smith to research and develop a programmed text that provides fundamental information regarding the factors which cause or contribute to educational failure among at-risk students.

- Diane Durette, associated health professions instructor, will use her fellowship to assist with publication costs.

- Laura George, assistant professor of English, will present a paper at a special joint meeting of the North American Society for the Study of Romanticism and the British Association for Romantic Studies.

- Susan C. Kattelus, associate professor of accounting, will attend the 1998 Governmental and Nonprofit Section of the America Accounting Association midyear meeting.

- Alicia Li, assistant professor of special education, will conduct research on the "needs assessment on programs serving students who are visually impaired with multiple disabilities in Michigan."

- Melissa Motschall, assistant professor of English, will attend a series of accreditation study sessions and take a written and oral exam to become accredited by the Public Relations Society of America.

- Diana Pancioli, associate professor of art, will cover some of the costs associated with writing her book, Extrusion and Mold Making for Artists/Potters

- Carole Pawloski, assistant professor of art, will attend the Art Libraries Society of North America and the Visual Resources Association annual conferences.

- Pamela Speelman, industrial technology associate professor, will research jointly with Darcelle D. White on the topic "Is Gender a Factor in Jobs Following Cooperative Education Experiences?"

- Janice Clark Young, HPERD assistant professor, will present her paper, "Sun Protection Measures Among Undergraduates: A Comparison Study at a Midwest and Gulf Coast University," at the American Alliance of Health, Physical Education and Dance national conference.

Sendsubmissions for Campus Capsules to 18 Welch Hall or call 487-4400.

Transfer student numbers are declining slightly, with fewer students coming to EMU from community colleges and private institutions. The number of returning students also is expected to decline slightly. Overall, the enrollment forecast remains stable, with a slight .5 percent decline in enrollment projected.

- 90 percent of EMU's freshmen (FTIACs - first time in any college) students come to EMU from 14 southeast Michigan counties. They are Genesee, Hillsdale, Ingham, Jackson, Lapeer, Lenawee, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Saginaw, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne.

AUXILIARY BUDGET

Jim Vick, assistant vice president, and Sandra Williams, director of financial operations for the Division of University Marketing and Student Affairs, presented a report on EMU's auxiliary budget.

The auxiliary budget for 1997-98 is $27.89 million. The 1998-99 budget is now being developed. Auxiliary operations include computer sales, housing, dining, conferences, University Health Services, the Eastern Echo, licensing, Rec/Im programs, University publications, library copy center, parking, SEEUS and the Kresge Environment Education Center. The budget employs 195.5 FTE workers.

- $44,925 from the School Food Service Foundation for the nutritional analysis of lunches brought from home vs. reimbursable school lunches in southeastern Michigan schools, administered by Alice Jo Rainville;

- $42,426 from Great Lakes Commission for the online spatial data sharing and integrated mapping program, administered by Yichun Xie;

- $38,550 from Michigan Department of Education for the Southeastern Michigan Family, School, Community

Consortium, administered by James Berry;

- $25,760 from General Motors Corp. for the GM Powertrain Technical Education program, administered by Karen Varney;

- $21,250 from the Michigan Department of Education for Project STEM (Saline Area Schools, Tecumseh Public Schools and Eastern), administered by Beverley Geltner and

- $17,571 from Michigan Department of State Police for the Law Enforcement Executive Forum, administered by Gerald Lawver.

Three matching fund grants from the Michigan Department of Education will help support separate programs: $139,232 for the plants and people of many cultures program; $135,000 for the chemists and physicists of many cultures program; and $135,000 for the earthscientists and astronomers of many cultures programs.

The Michigan Department of Education sponsored $86,378 for the 1998 Summer Institute for Arts and Sciences program. The Kellogg Foundation sponsored $62,228 for the Middle Vision program.

Why I attend Eastern Michigan University

I come from Romania, an area with a heritage so rich that we have archeological digs dating back 5,000 years. The historical cores of our cities are still state-owned but will be given away as private property. This will put huge economic pressure on a framework not prepared to support it.

That's what brought me to Eastern Michigan.

I'm already an architect, but I needed more. I traveled from Eastern Europe to become a graduate student in historic preservation because EMU's program is known for its focus on heritage interpretation and cultural tourism — skills my country is going to need.

My courses emphasize how to educate communities in historic preservation and how to play an interactive role in saving our past. With Eastern's help, I hope to go home and preserve not just the community character, but also the rich cultural and archeological history.

The historic preservation program at Eastern is showing me how to train others to interpret and educate.

I was pleasantly surprised by this University when I discovered its focus on teaching and learning. Imagine traveling so far ... only to discover that you're exactly where you should be.
