

Education secretary Riley slated as commencement speaker

U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley will be the commencement speaker at Eastern Michigan University this spring, following action at the Jan. 20 Board of Regents meeting.

Riley, who has served as a member of President Clinton's Cabinet since 1992, will present the morning commencement address Sunday, April 26, when Eastern will host graduation exercises in Bowen Field House.

U.S. Representative Lynn N. Rivers of Ann Arbor will present the commencement address during afternoon ceremonies. Both Riley and Rivers will receive honorary degrees. Last year, 2,450 students graduated during spring commencement exercises.

Riley, former governor of South Carolina, was selected as secretary of education after he won national recognition for his successful effort to improve education in South Carolina. He has helped launch historic initiatives to raise academic standards, to improve instruction for the poor and disadvantaged, to expand loans to help more Americans go to college, to

Incarnati re-elected chairman of EMU Board of Regents

Philip A. Incarnati, president and chief executive officer of McLaren Health Care Corp. of Flint, was re-elected chairman of the Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents at its regular meeting Jan. 20.

Incarnati, a resident of Fenton, has been an EMU regent since 1992 and chair of the Board of Regents since 1995. He earned a business administration degree in 1976 and a master's degree in 1982, both from EMU.

Dr. Gayle Thomas, a dentist from Dearborn, was re-elected vice chair. She has been a regent since 1991 and served as vice chair of the board in 1992 and 1997. She has had a general dentistry practice in Dearborn since 1983 and was a part-time assistant professor at the University of Detroit Mercy School of Dentistry for 14 years.

Re-elected as secretary to the board was Dana Aymond, and re-elected treasurer was Patrick J. Doyle, EMU vice president for business and finance.

prepare young people for the world of work and to improve teaching. He also helped to create the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education, which today includes more than 4,000 groups.

He is leading President Clinton's national crusade for excellence in education. Riley has helped win a major ruling by the Federal Communications Commission to give schools and libraries deep discounts for Internet access and telecommunication services.

Rivers was a nontraditional student and mother of two when she earned her bachelor's degree in biological anthropology at the University of Michigan in 1987. She served on the Ann Arbor Board of Education for eight years.

HONORING A KING

EMU community gathers to remember King, keep hope alive

Carson prescribes education to aid future

By David Mitchell

Doctors are known for giving prescriptions

This is exactly what happened when Benjamin Carson Sr., M.D., visited Eastern Michigan University Jan. 19, for the University's Martin Luther King celebration.

The award-winning director of pediatric neurosurgery at Johns Hopkins Hospital shared his diagnosis of societal ills and prescribed a dose of education during his address for the standing room only audience of 800 at the President's Luncheon at the Ypsilanti Marriott.

Carson also spoke at Pease Auditorium during the morning in front of an audience of 1,300 school children and community members.

"If you looked back on me as a youngster you would never believe that I would have become a brain surgeon," said Carson recalling a turning point in his life.

After bringing home a failing report card in the fifth grade his mother took away television privileges, ordering him to read two books each week from the library and give a written report on each.

In less than two years Carson moved from the bottom of his class to the top.

"The major turn-around was my introduction to reading," said Carson. "I read everything I could get my hands on."

Carson encouraged the audience to dream big dreams. "I believe you should always do your best and let God do the rest," said Carson referring to personal expectations. "You have no idea what you are capable of accomplishing once you set your mind to do it."

Carson singled out television as a major stumbling block in the learning process.

THE DREAM: The Eastern Michigan University campus celebrated Dr. Martin Luther King Day in many different ways Jan. 19. Part of the celebration was the performance of the CloseUp Theatre group. A member of the group holds up a word that plays a very important part of the celebration. THE MARCH: Students, faculty, staff and members of the Ypsilanti community participated in a candlelight march from McKenny Union to the Martin Luther King Gardens on campus.

Five honored posthumously as Martin Luther King Awards debut

The Martin Luther King Jr. Honor Awards were unveiled Jan. 19 during the 1998 President's Luncheon. Juanita Reid, vice president for University Relations, introduced the new award, saying it will go to individuals within the University community who exemplify the work of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. A wall of honor will be created in Eastern's Multicultural Center and a bronze plaque will be installed in the MLK Garden.

The 1998 award winners were honored posthumously:

- Gloria August, whose work in career development and sense of humor made her an outstanding student-oriented staff member.
- Douglas J. Harris, whose noted leadership and civic commitment benefited both the University and its community.

- Richard W. "Doc M" Marshall, a well-known mathematics professor whose philosophy of "stand and deliver" inspired and aided scores of students and colleagues.

- LeRoy W. Watts, a social work colleague whose service as a role model and community servant helped create EMU's social work and African-American Studies departments.

- Rosetta F. Wingo, whose outstanding educational leadership in business and technology education made her an advocate for her discipline and her students.

"We were fortunate to have these five as our champions," Reid said.

NEW FACES

New hires include academic department head, safety officer

The appointments of several new Eastern Michigan University staff members were approved by the Board of Regents at its Jan. 20 meeting. All appointments are effective immediately. Those appointed are:

• Sheila Bentrum, special education. Bentrum earned both of her degrees from Eastern Michigan University. She earned her bachelor's degree in speech and language pathology in 1979 and her master's degree in 1980. Since 1982, she has worked as the manager of the speech and language department of Herrick Memorial Hospital in Tecumseh. She is certified in clinical competence by the American Speech-Language Hearing Association, and she has a Michigan Elementary Provisional Certificate with an endorsement in special education. Bentrum is a member of the Michigan Society of Hospital Directors of Communication Disorders Programs. Bentrum resides in Ypsilanti.

Bentrum

Bingle

• Matt Bingle, assistant track coach. Bingle was an assistant men's/women's track coach at the University of California-Irvine before coming to Eastern Michigan. Bingle, 26, is a 1995 graduate of Ball State University and earned All-Mid-American track honors as a hurdler in 1994 and 1995. He earned his master's degree from Northern Arizona in 1997. He is a native of Fulton, Indiana.

• Amy Franks, officer, Department of Public Safety. Franks earned her bachelor's degree from Saginaw Valley State University in 1997. She received her law enforcement training at Northeastern Basic Police Training Academy at Delta College in 1997. She was a park ranger and Macomb County Deputy Sheriff before coming to Eastern. Franks resides in Roseville.

Franks

• Judy Mack, Learning Center specialist. Mack has earned three degrees from Eastern Michigan. She earned her bachelor's degree in physical education in 1971, a master's degree in physical education in 1976 and a master's degree in reading in 1983. Since 1991 she has worked for Lawrence Technological University in Southfield, where she began as a counselor and was most recently the coordinator of the academic achievement center. Mack also was a resource specialist for Schoolcraft College from 1984-91. She has given numerous presentations and is a member of several professional associations, including Michigan Association on Handicappers in Higher Education and the Michigan Tutorial Association. Mack lives in Livonia.

Mack

• Gersham Nelson, academic department head of history and philosophy. Since 1988, Nelson has been at Frostburg State University in Maryland. He has been an associate professor since 1991 and was the chair of the history department from 1991-95. Nelson earned his bachelor's degree in educational psychology and history from the University of Manitoba in 1977. He earned his master's and doctorate degrees from the University of Illinois at Chicago in 1980 and 1987, respectively. Nelson has been published and is currently doing research for a book entitled "Africans of the Diaspora: 1890-1990." He has won numerous awards, including the Henry C. Welcome Award (teaching incentive award) and a National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Fellowship in 1991. He also was given the faculty service award while at Frostburg State. He is a native of Jamaica and resides in Ypsilanti.

Nelson

• George Popofski, legal affairs. Popofski earned his bachelor's degree in legal assisting from Eastern Michigan in 1996. In the two years since graduation, Popofski has worked in the office of general counsel for Ford Motor Co. as an legal assistant and at Olde Discount Corporation as a paralegal. He also is a member of the legal assistant section of the State Bar of Michigan. Popofski is from Grosse Ile.

Popofski

• Kathy Randles, director of distance learning for Continuing Education. Randles earned her bachelor's and master's degrees from Eastern Michigan in 1979 and 1982, respectively. Since 1997, she has been an employee consultant for Extended Programs at Eastern Michigan. Randles began her career with EMU in 1979 as a senior secretary for the Department of Social Work. She also was the assistant to the dean of the College of Health and Human Services and the project coordinator of the adult foster care training project at the University. Randles is in the process of completing a certificate in Distance Education from UCLA - Extension, a program offered entirely over the Internet. She resides in Ann Arbor.

Randles

• Tom Wywrot, assistant sports information director. Wywrot is a 1995 graduate of EMU, earning a bachelor's degree in journalism. He also was a member of the men's swimming and diving teams that won the Mid-American Conference Championships in 1992 and 1993.

Wywrot, of Troy, was a production assistant in the newsroom at WXYZ-TV Channel 7 and the assistant editor for the LN Publication Co., which produces Basketball Times. He also is a former sports editor for the Eastern Echo.

Wywrot

Six retiring faculty have combined 200 years of University service

The Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents approved several staff appointments and 6 retirements at its Jan. 20 meeting.

There are six faculty retiring from the University:

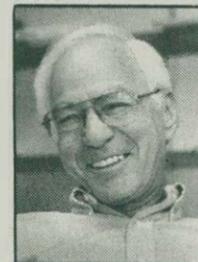

- John Adams, professor of health, physical education, recreation and dance, effective Dec. 31, 1997 after 37 years of service (Saline).
- Della Flusche, professor of history and philosophy, effective Jan. 8, after 30 years of service (Ann Arbor).
- James Gousseff, professor of communication and theatre arts, effective Jan. 1, after 35 years of service (Ypsilanti).
- Margaret Eide, associate professor of chemistry, effective Jan. 8, after 31 years of service (Ann Arbor).

RETIREMENTS/APPOINTMENTS

- Bert Greene, professor of teacher education, effective Jan. 2, after 35 years of service (Ypsilanti).
- Ralph Powell, associate professor of chemistry, effective Dec. 31, 1997, after 32 years of service (Ann Arbor).

Those appointed are: Jody McKinley, administrative assistant in Michigan DECA (Ypsilanti); Mary Kirby, secretary in the office of academic services (Clinton); Jeanne Lagana, secretary in social work (Brooklyn); Tammy Rowen, secretary in continuing education (Trenton); Dina Terrell, secretary in health, physical education, recreation and dance (Ypsilanti); Leah Mills, secretary in academic advising (Ypsilanti); Angela Roell, account clerk in accounts payable (Ypsilanti); Steven Mosier, motor vehicle equipment mechanic in the physical plant motor pool (South Lyon); Theresa Copeland, fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti); Angela Gardner, fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti); Stephanie Greenlee, fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti); Geneva Henderson, fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti); Susan Malinsky, fast food worker, food services (Dearborn); Antonio McSwain, fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti); Lynnette Parker, fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti); Shondella Patterson, fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti); Yan Peng, fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti); Cheryl Smith, fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti); Sheila Taylor, fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti); Cynthia Tubbs, fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti); James Whitfield Jr., fast food worker, food services (Ypsilanti).

Greene

Gouseff

Ford plant program tops list of grants, contracts totaling $1.9 million

Skill enhancement at Ford's Rouge plant, an early childhood school readiness program and the School of Police Staff and Command are among the programs that will benefit after the Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents accepted 31 grants and contracts, totaling $1,913,258, at its Jan. 20 meeting.

Among the grants received during the period of Nov. 1 through Dec. 31 were more than $1 million for the Centers for Corporate Training, directed by Walter DiMantova. The grants were from the UAW-Ford National Educational Development Training Center providing $637,003 for the Ford Rouge Skills Enhancement Program and $38,217 for UAW-Ford Romulus Carlite; $405,000 from the City of Detroit for City of Detroit/OJ Transport; and $2,970 from the Adistra Corp. for the Southeast Michigan Community Alliance Workforce Development Board.

Fourteen other major grants totaled $112,346 and went to support quality training at the Center for Quality, including $24,250 from Warner Lambert; $18,200 from Lear Corp.; $14,500 from Progressive Tool & Industries Co.; $8,975 from MTS Systems Corp.; and $7,550 from Reckett & Coleman Inc.

Three matching fund grants from the Michigan Department of Education will help support separate programs: $111,600 for the early childhood school readiness program's competitive renewal; $87,349 for the Farmington-EMU science teaching program; and $58,000 for Number and Pattern in African Culture: A Preservice Mentorship Program.

Oakland Community College provided $86,000 for Gerald "Skip" Lawver, inter-disciplinary technology, and the School of Police Staff and Command. The National Association of Securities Dealers sponsored $68,000 for A Consumer Approach to Investing: A Teaching Guide on the World Wide Web, administered by Rosella Bannister of the National Institute for Consumer Education.

The City of Ypsilanti's $60,500 will support a Problem Solving Partnership, administered by Bruce Warren, sociology. Grants totaling $34,585 from the Jewish Federation of Metro Detroit and the Flint Jewish Federation Foundation will support The Musical Tradition of the Eastern European Synagogue: Annotated Anthology work being done by Sylvan Kalib, music.

Other grants include $39,233 from the Washtenaw County Workforce Development Board for the second year of the Minority Achievement Program; $31,596 from Wayne State University for the development of a computer-aided course in foreign market entry planning; and $30,000 for political scientist Joanna Scott from the National Endowment for the Humanities to continue her research on Hannah Arendt.

REGENTS ROUNDUP

Regents okay emeritus policy; grant 3 status

The board approved a new policy granting emeritus staff status for retiring administrative and professional employees at the level of AP-10 and above who have served the University for at least 15 years. To receive emeritus staff status, employees must be recommended by the University President and approved by the Board of Regents. The board authorized the University President to establish nomination procedures and identify the privileges which will be provided to retiring staff awarded emeritus status. The executive director of human resources will be responsible for the administration of the policy. The policy goes into effect immediately.

The board granted emeritus faculty status to:

• John R. "Dick" Adams of Saline, a professor of health, physical education, recreation and dance (HPERD), retired Jan. 2 after 37 years of service. Dr. Adams spent his professional life at Eastern, serving as a coach, faculty representative for the NCAA and as a teacher in the HPERD department. At EMU, he was an assistant football coach for three years, head basketball coach for six years and head golf coach for 10 years. A

1951 graduate of Eastern Illinois University, he earned a master's degree at the University of Illinois in 1952 and a Ph.D. at the University of Michigan in 1967.

• James W. Gousseff of Ypsilanti, a professor in communication and theatre arts, retired Jan. 1 after 32 years of service. Dr. Gousseff has had a significant influence on the academic and professional development of students in the CTA area. He has directed students in more than 40 mainstage productions, served as artistic director and directed numerous laboratory performances. He was head of the theatre area for 15 years.

A 1950 graduate of Iowa State College, he earned a master of arts degree in 1952 at Cornell University, a master of fine arts in 1956 at Yale University and a doctorate in 1962 at Northwestern University.

• Ronald M. Scott, was a professor of chemistry and had 38 years of service with EMU until his death Nov. 5, 1997. Dr. Scott was a valued member of the chemistry department for almost four decades. At the time of his death, he was completing a textbook. Dr. Scott was responsible for developing Eastern's nursing, toxicology and industrial hygiene programs. He was a 1955 graduate of Wayne State University and earned his doctorate at the University of Illinois in 1959.

CULTURAL EVENT: Eastern Michigan University's Cultural History Tours program, which is sponsored by the Office of Academic Programs Abroad, was recognized with a resolution at the Jan. 20 Board of Regents meeting. In its 25 years of existence, Cultural History Tours has taken students and faculty all over the world. Receiving plaques from President William Shelton are George Klein, Gordon Knutson, director of Cultural History Tours; Karl Stoklosa, chief tour manager; and Don Loppnow.

In other business:

The board received and placed on file OMB Circular A-133 Supplementary Financial Reports. The report includes an independent auditors' report on compliance with requirements applicable to the University's federal awards programs. The report states that the University complied with the requirements governing its major federal awards programs for the year ended June 30, 1997. Total federal awards were $53.7 million.

CAMPUS CAPSULES

MPERS Outreach Program

Michigan Public Schools Employees Retirement System (MPERS) has published its MPERS Outreach Program schedule for 1998. A retirement system representative will present a pre-retirement informational seminar and provide a chance for individual counseling appointments at locations throughout the state. These sessions can be scheduled by calling the numbers listed. Sessions usually begin at 5:30 p.m. and lasts two hours. Schedule: Feb. 9 and 19, Howell (517-546-5550); Feb. 18, Lansing, begins at 4:30 p.m., (517-322-6086); March 16-17, Ann Arbor (313-994-8100, ext 1220); March 18-19, Flint (810-768-4400, ask for Alvena Evans); April 1-2, Wayne (734-334-1462), May 19, begins at 4:30 p.m., Lansing (517-322-6086); May 27-28, Monroe (313-242-5799).

See the MPERS home page [www.michigan.state.mi.us/orshome/mpers] for more information.

Computer entry

Effective Feb. 1, all deliveries to University Computing must be made to the main entrance of the department at the northeast corner of Pray-Harold, near the loading dock. Call 487-3145.

See the stars

The Eastern Michigan University Astronomy Club will host its next open house at the Sherzer Observatory, Friday, Jan. 30, 7-10 p.m. Visitors will have the opportunity to look through a variety of telescopes, including Sherzer Observatory's 10-inch apochromatic refractor. This event is free and open to the public. Call 487-3033.

And the nominees are...

Nominations are being accepted for the 1998 Teaching Excellence Awards. This year's ceremony recognizing the faculty recipients will be during Homecoming '98 weekend. Award criteria and nomination forms are available in the Office of Alumni Relations, 13 Welch Hall. Nominations must be received no later than Friday, March 6. Call 487-0250.

Have a ball

The Beaux Arts Ball to benefit the Thelma McAndless Distinguished Chair in the Arts and Humanities is Saturday, Jan. 31, 6:30 p.m.-1 a.m., McKenny Union Ballroom. The evening will feature dinner, ballroom dancing, a musical review of

"On The Town" performed by students from the Communication and Theatre Arts Department, and a silent auction. Tickets are $125 each or $225 per couple. Black tie is optional. Call 487-0252 for reservations.

Scholarship deadline

The deadline to submit University Undergraduate Scholarship Applications is Jan. 30. Applications are available in the Office of Financial Aid. Call 487-0455.

Aid applications available

It's time to apply for federal and state financial aid for next fall. The 1998-99 Free Application for Federal Student Aid is available at the Office of Financial Aid, 403 Pierce Hall. Students who wish to be considered for federal and state funds, which include college work study, should apply no later than Feb. 15. Call 487-0455.

MSNBC personality to visit campus

Ed Gordon, anchor of the Saturday edition of "EnterNight," will present "African Americans and the Media," Tuesday, Jan. 27, 7-9 p.m., McKenny Union Ballroom. This event is free and open to the public.

Gordon is a contributing correspondent for "Dateline NBC" and "Today." He is also the former anchor and chief correspondent for "BET News" and "Lead Story," Black Entertainment Television's most successful programs. Call 487-4404.

AETNA plan limited

AETNA's Benefits 360 plan is no longer available for new employees. The University is not extending dependent or increased life insurance to any new employees. In the future, the University will research the need and feasibility of adding a new dependent life insurance benefit.

Employees who are currently enrolled and contributing to this plan will be grandfathered in the plan. These participants may continue to increase, decrease, or add dependent children riders if they wish. No new spousal coverage will be allowed. Call 487-3195.

Alumni Employee Celebration set

Alumni who are employees of Eastern Michigan University are invited to attend a celebration in their honor Thursday, Jan. 29, 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m., McKenny Union Ballroom. The cost is $5 per person. Reservations must be made in advance. Space is limited. For more information or to make reservations, call the Office of Alumni Relations at 487-0250 or send an e-mail to alumni.relations@emich.edu.

FCIE offers semester-long seminar

The Faculty Center for Instructional Excellence is offering "The Scholarship of Teaching and Learning in Higher Education," facilitated by Professor Bob Kraft, during the winter semester. The seminars are every Friday, starting Jan. 30, 1-2:30 p.m., in Library 322.

Participants will explore the primary literature about teaching and learning in higher education in the context of their experience as teachers and students. All who teach at EMU are invited and lecturers are welcome. Call FCIE at 487-1386.

Looming exhibit

Cynthia Schira, internationally known for her explorations of woven imagery, will lecture Friday, Jan. 30, 7:30 p.m., at Mark Jefferson Room 101. Schira is a professor of design at the University of Kansas and has had her work represented in major public collections including the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York; the Renwick Gallery of the National Museum of American Art in Washington, D.C., and the Museum Bellerive in Zurich, Switzerland. Schira will present a public slide lecture about her work titled A Point of View.

Ford fetish

"The Powerful Object: Fetish Works" is at the Ford Gallery through Jan. 30. Call 487-0465 for gallery hours.

Book contract seminar Feb. 8

The Southeast Michigan local of the National Writers Union (UAW local 1981) will conduct Book Contract Advising Seminars at EMU, Sunday, Feb. 8, 9:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m., Hoyt Conference Center.

Registration begins a half hour before the seminar and costs $20 for members of any union and $25 for nonmembers of SEM-NWU. Refreshments and daycare will be provided.

Michael McCready, an attorney specializing in copyright and entertainment publishing law, will lead the four-hour seminars. Call the AAUP at 487-1070 for more information.

Correction

The date for the 1998 Undergraduate Symposium is Friday, March 27. Not Feb. 27, as was reported in the Jan. 20 issue of FOCUS EMU.

CARSON, from page 1

"It is a very difficult thing to break long term habits like television watching," said Carson, author of two books. "Reading is something that you really have to cultivate. It's so much easier just to sit back and take in someone else's thoughts than to actually come up with your own."

With the precision of a surgeon, Carson challenged the media to present African American images that go beyond those of sports and entertainment.

"I was glad to hear him say that there is more to life than being a basketball player, a football player, and a baseball player," said Ypsilanti parent Brenda Averett. "There is more in terms of academics that our children can strive for, and can be motivated to achieve."

"His presentation was exactly what the young people need to hear," said Anthony Snoddy, EMU alumna and president of Exemplar Manufacturing Company. "He's a living example of how a person can grow up through adverse situations and become very successful."

I brought my son. He's 13 and interested in being a doctor. It was totally appropriate considering what the day was all about," said Freman Hendrix, EMU alumna and deputy mayor of the City of Detroit.

"I enjoyed Dr. Carson's message very much, said Floyd Carroll, director of multicultural affairs. "It was quite interesting and very inspirational for the students."

SIGNING IN: Dr. Benjamin Carson (center) signs his book for Dores McCree and Wade H. McCree.

"If there ever was a role model for young people today Dr. Carson is that role model. He is an outstanding individual," said EMU President William E. Shelton.

Carson focused on education as the key to overcoming personal and societal obstacles, but he also added that cultural cooperation is necessary.

"We have all come to this country on different ships," said Carson, referring to Dr. King's dream of racial equality. "But we are now all living in the same boat, and if one part of the boat sinks, like the movie Titanic, the whole boat sinks."

Why I attend Eastern Michigan University

When I first arrived at Eastern Michigan University, I was pretty lonely. I was away from my home in Ecuador. It was early August and school hadn't started yet. Then, freshman orientation began and everyone started arriving on campus. There were activities, a band and great music. It was like out of the movies. I soon found a friendly environment which allowed me to grow personally and professionally.

As a Fulbright Scholar, I had my choice of universities. I chose Eastern Michigan because it offered more personal attention. My professors are very open and willing to make that extra effort. We also have many international students, which makes for a diverse atmosphere. I really feel like I get a learning edge at Eastern.

I'm studying international business, and my goal is to market consumer products. My long-term goal is to have my own company in Ecuador and export goods to the United States. Ecuador is a small country with a lot of natural resources. By adding value to these raw materials, I can help my country.

Cynthia Bajana, Fulbright Scholar and Master's Candidate, College of Business

EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY
The Learning Edge™

OPENINGS

www.emich.edu/public/hr/employ.htm

To be considered for vacant positions, all Promotional Openings Application Forms MUST BE SUBMITTED directly to the Compensation/Employment Services Office and received no later than 4:45 p.m., Monday, Feb. 2. NOTE: LATE OR INCOMPLETE FORMS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED.

The Compensation/Employment Services Office announces the following vacancies.

Detailed job descriptions may be reviewed in Room 310 King Hall. Vacancy information may also be obtained by calling our 24-hour Jobs Line at 487-0016. Compensation/Employment Services office hours are Monday - Friday 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.

PROFESSIONAL/TECHNICAL

(Minimum Bi-Weekly Salary)

PTBF9804 PT-06 $922.57
Accountant I, Student Accounting. Good Communication skills both written and verbal. Good organizational skills.

ADMINISTRATIVE/PROFESSIONAL

(Minimum Semi-Monthly Salary)

APAA9809 AP-13a $3,002.50
Academic Department Head, Business and Technology Education.

APAA9810 AP-14 $3,101.29
Academic Dean, Continuing Education.

FACULTY

F9831 Assistant Professor, Psychology. Academic Year Appointment.

F9832 Assistant Professor, Psychology. Academic Year Appointment.

The pay rates stated above reflect the probationary minimum rate for a newly hired EMU employee. The pay rate or salary for current employees will be established according to the respective employee group union contract, and/or University salary administration policy guidelines.

EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY
The Learning Edge

An Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer

EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY
The Learning Edge

FOCUS EMU is published weekly from September to April and biweekly from May to August for Eastern Michigan University faculty and staff. The deadline to submit copy for consideration is 5 p.m. Tuesdays for the following week's issue. Please send all submissions to: Editor, Focus EMU, Office of Public Information, 18 Welch Hall. Please direct any questions to (313) 487-4400. Submissions may be faxed to (313) 483-2077.

Office of Public Information

Pamela Young, director
Pat Mroczek, manager of news services,
Ward Mullens, Focus EMU editor
Dick Schwarze, university photographer
Linda Rider, editorial services
Sherry Miller, senior secretary
Monica Wroblewski, graduate assistant
David Mitchell, student intern

Printed on recycled paper by the Tecumseh Herald, Tecumseh, Mich.