

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The danger with making acknowledgments is not who you recognize but who you might forget. Despite the possibility of that danger the author wishes to identify several persons who made major contributions toward helping to complete this book.

The one person who was involved with this project from its inception to completion was Maria Davis, Eastern Michigan University Archivist. Maria helped with the initial research of the H.P.E.R.D. Department Centennial project which eventually evolved into this book. She helped locate photographs, research biographies, locate important historical documentation, and check for the accuracy of dates and names.

Administrative support came from Dr. Michael Bretting, Chairperson of the Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Dance Department and Dr. Jerry Robbins, Dean of the College of Education. Their encouragement and sabbatical leave support was greatly appreciated.

Being awarded a sabbatical leave during the 1995 Fall Semester was a major factor in being able to complete this project. Most of the library research and organization of historical materials was accomplished during this time.

The author was very fortunate in having the opportunity to interview several former Eastern Michigan University faculty and alumni. These persons provided much detail and colorful accounts of department activities, events, and programs dating back to 1923. Those interviewed included Jack Lowe, Ruth Boughner, Dean Rockwell, Kenneth "Red" Simmons, Peggy Steig, Robert Willoughby, Patric Cavanaugh, and James Rynearson. Robert Willoughby, Patric Cavanaugh, and James Rynearson were especially helpful in verifying dates, names, programs and serving as editors for the books numerous revisions. Thank you to Janice Pedersen for helping with the final proof reading of the book. A very special thanks is directed toward Judy LaCombe. She typed the contents of this book several times and is the only other person who knows the entire history of the department.
