Eastern Michigan University
LINCOLNS SCOOPED THE INTERCLUB AND WEBTERS RETALIATED IN THE SCHOOL-AT-LARGE

The Fight for the Championship is on and Both Rivals Have Scored Even Thus Far.

Two Websters, two Lincoln's, and the societies to hear from, is the present situation in the annual debating war between the clubs and societies for possession of the silver cup and championship honors. The fight began in earnest this week and the old rivals, the Webster and Lincoln clubs have each scored in the preliminaries.

The first contest was the inter-club on Monday evening. There were four contestants, Pittenger and Schoolcraft of the Webster and Herald and Reinhold of the Lincoln, the Portia having sent no representatives. Both places on the final went to the Lincoln men, Herald receiving first and Reinhold second. Lincoln debating stock went above par but came rapidly down again on Thursday when the Websters retaliated in the school-at-large and walked over a host of Lincoln men without letting any of them get a look at the coveted places for the final.

The school-at-large was held on Thursday evening. The effect produced by the inter-club was evident from the fact that every contestant was either a Lincoln or a Webster man and there were no less than nine of them, Pittenger, Reed, Lathers and Schoolcraft of the Webster and Raidle, King, Ferguson, Lewis and Vandenberg of the Lincoln.

Pittenger and Reed won out, and thus evening up the struggle that will come in the final, the date for which has not yet been set.

The inter-society will take place next Wednesday evening. In case any one society should succeed in placing two contestants the final would be a merry battle. This is just what is expected will happen, as all indications seem to point that way.

At the senior-life class meeting Tuesday arrangements were made for class chapel Wednesday, Jan. 18. George Foster, Edith Hoyle and Mary Lord were appointed a committee to have charge of the line of march. Glen Lewis was appointed yell-master. Class colors were given to the members present and the subject of class pins was discussed.

Roy Herald in behalf of the Aurora Board urged the seniors to get their photographs early.

“KING” COLE.

He Will Again Coach the Base Ball Squad this Spring.

Joy came to the hearts of the baseball fans this week when the announcement was made that “King” Cole, of the U. of M. has given a definite promise to return and take charge of the team this spring.

Last year Coach Cole took up the work of coaching the team in the middle of the season and brought the team through in good shape. He was especially liked by the men and the news that he will return has been hailed with delight. He will begin his duties soon and will take up the work of indoor coaching.

ALMA GAME OFF.

The Normals vs. Detroit Y. M. C. A. Inst.

The Normals will play a Detroit Y. M. C. A. team at the gymnasium this evening, the game with Alma which was to have been played at Alma this afternoon, having been cancelled by Alma for financial reasons. The Detroit teams usually put up a first class article in basket ball and a fast game may be expected.

Next Friday a second team may be sent to Adrian, while the regular squad will probably go to Windsor.

The game with the alumni stars last Saturday was won by a score of 18 to 10, much to the surprise of the veterans. It was a pretty game throughout. The old men were at a disadvantage for lack of practice, which showed in defective team work and endurance. The Normals hardly played so well as in the game with the U. of M. engineers. The alumni lined up as follows: R. C. Smith, '03, Ann Arbor, center; Chas. Novak, '03, Carnovia, and Albert Graham, '04, Flint Rock, baskets; William Morris, '04, Grosse Ile, and Burton Barnes, Delray, guards.
WHO WILL WIN?

From these seven the Normal Orator for the State Contest at Albion will be chosen.

The annual oratorical contest will take place next Saturday evening, January 21. There will be seven contestants from whom the Normal representative for the state contest will be chosen. Last year the Normal orator won first place in the state contest and represented Michigan in the great interstate contest of eleven states, representing ninety six colleges and over thirty thousand students. This year the state contest will take place at Albion.

The oratorical association offers prizes amounting to about one hundred dollars to the winners as follows: 1st, a set of World's Best Orations in ten volumes; 2nd, American Statesman Series, fourteen volumes; 3rd, three volumes of Cambridge poets, namely Whittier, Longfellow, and Lowell.

ORATORICAL CONTESTANTS.

MINNIE CHARLIEK.

Minnie Charlick, '07, is from Midford, Oakland county, where she taught two years in the rural schools before entering the Normal. She won her place in the school at large contest with her oration on "Joan of Arc," and is the only Portia representative in this year's contests. Miss Charlick is a member of the Portia club and of the Crescent society and last year was president of the Freshman class.

C. W. FULTON.

C. W. Fulton is a southern man, from DeSauville, Kentucky, and has chosen as his subject, "The Boys Who Wore the Gray." He is a graduate of Bowling Green College and of the Zanarian Art College at Columbus, Ohio. He first began the study of oratory while at Bowling Green, and has since taken the course offered at the Normal. At present, besides carrying special work at the Normal, he is also instructor in penmanship in the Cleary Business College of this city. Mr. Fulton is an expert designer and does much extra work in designing and sketching.

J. MACE ANDREES.

J. Mace Andrews, '04, of Champaign, won first place in the inter-club contest as a representative of the Lincoln club. He entered the Normal from the Champaign high school after two years of teaching in rural schools. Graduated from the life certificate course last June, and is now doing the work of the A. B. course. He has been active in oratorical and debating circles for several years and was last year one of the contestants in the final oratorical contest. He has been president of the Athenaeum society and of the Lincoln club and is now president of the oratorical association. His subject is "Gettysburg."

studio 5 so. Washington st.
Next Saturday evening the annual oratorical contest will take place in Normal Hall, at which time, the person who is to represent the Normal College in the state contest will be chosen.

In speaking of the contest a year ago the News at the time had this to say regarding the number who attended: "If a stranger who knew nothing of our college had been present, he would have defined our college spirit as consisting of two yards of hunting, one banner, and one yell. He would have thought our faculty few in numbers, or were four a fair representation of that august body. He would have watched for enthusiasm and been delighted with every bit of applause, as an indication that there was some life here after all." And yet, the man who won in that contest proved to be the winner in the state contest, and again took high in the inter-state. This station of E. Lee was of such excellence that, in the state contest, the audience, forgetting that it was being delivered in a prize contest, voted it the best. And, again later, when printed in the News, it changed to fall into the hands of old veteran who had fought for the South. It impressed the old soldier's soul to such a degree that a distant Louisiana came a letter of greeting to that noble young man who had spoken so true of their beloved hero. Higher tribute could not have been given.

The orations next week may not rank with the masterpieces of oratory, nor even win the state contest, but they do represent weeks of time and labor by those who have prepared them. These persons have a right to expect a more appreciative audience than vacant seats. Instead of one hundred seventy persons the hall should be full.

CHANCE FOR AN AMENDMENT.

The failure of the Portia club to send representatives into the debating contests suggests that the oratorical constitution might probably be amended. Last year the club demanded admission to the debates and the result of the contest showed that the demand was just. Provision was made in the new constitution whereby the Portia club, but in the very first year after the adoption of the new rules, the club has neglected to take advantage of its privilege.

The clubs and societies are favored by the constitution on the presumption that they will keep up a supply of material in the shape of contestants, from whom the college team is to be chosen. The privilege implies a duty and when any club or society fails to avail itself of the right to enter contestants, it at the same time, becomes recusant in its duty to the association and to the college. The places left vacant might have been filled by candidates now barred from competing. Failure to send representatives without sufficient cause, is an offense against the association that should be dealt with in a manner which would insure its not being repeated.

SAY NORMAL COLLEGE.

There are still many good Normalites who persist in speaking of the State Normal School, though the legislature abolished that name years ago. Especially is this true of those whose connection with the institution dates back to the time when that was its proper name. At the allum reunion at Lansing the word college was seldom heard. Stationery and illustrated post cards bearing the inquired legend are being sent in large numbers all over the country by students and faculty. Only last week we noticed a magazine article by one of our Heads of Department in the "Normal College at Ypsilanti.”

Now the word school is one of which no one would need to be ashamed, but to the average person it does not convey the impression of dignity and respect that the word college does. He immediately thinks of a high school. It chealens it, regardless of the merits it may have. There is something in a name. The next time you are asked where you are from, look your interlocutor squarely in the face, tell him from the Normal College at Ypsilanti, and let your manner convince him that it is the greatest institution of its kind. It may mean a hundred dollars more on your salary.

The announcement several days ago that 2,500 people attended the basketball game at Detroit between the D. A. C. and Ypsilanti teams, is gratifying. This game fills the gap between the seasons of the fall and spring sports, and in addition to combining many of the best features of the other sports, it lacks the elements of brutality that are so often lustily charged to football. The necessity of playing indoors makes very large numbers of spectators impossible, but the indications everywhere show that its increasing popularity assures its becoming a national game.

We advise the reading of the article on basketball by President Burt in the magazine number of Ira F. King, 05, hails from Blaine, Michigan, and is a Benedict. He is a member of the Lincoln club and also of the Olympic society. This is his first year at the Normal, after having previously attended Ferris Institute and the Ohio Northern University, added to seven years of teaching experience in the rural schools. He is at present president of the junior-life class.

Rex Plowman, '05, will represent the Olympic society in the final contest with an oration on "Abraham Lincoln." He graduated from the Ironountain high school in 1903 and is now a member of the senior-life class, of which he is also class treasurer. He secured oratorical honors in the high school and with his vocal powers has also earned the distinction of being at the present time, yellmaster of each the Lincoln club, the Olympic society, and the Normal College.

Chester A. Sheppard, '01, who represents the Atheneum society with his oration on "Grit" comes from Fremont, Michigan. He is a graduate of the high school at that place, has spent three summers at Ferris Institute, graduated from the Normal in '01, and is at present pursuing the B. Ed. course, in addition to five years teaching experience. He is vice-president of the junior-degree class and a member of the Aurora board.

L. Gertrude Kern, '05, subject, "The Angel of Crimea," fills the vacancy caused by the resignation of Maurice Lathers, who would otherwise have entered from the school-at-large contest. She will represent the Olympic society. Her home is at Reading, Hillsdale county, where she graduated from the high school. Since that time Miss Kern has spent one year in the Otterbein University, at Westerville, Ohio. She has also had five years experience as a grade teacher, and is now doing special work in English and elocution.

STROME—VAN CAMP.

Wednesday evening December 23, Alberta Emma Van Camp and Arthur Floyd Strome were married at the home of the bride's parents in Benton Harbor. Mrs. Strome has always made her home in Benton Harbor, graduating from the Benton Harbor College and teaching in that city for several years. In '93 she graduated from the Michigan State Normal College. Mr. Strome is principal of the high school at Niles. He was graduated from the Benton Harbor College in '93, and in '04 received the degree of A. B. from the University of Michigan.

The Pi Kappa Sigma Society of which Mrs. Strome was a member presented her with a beautiful wedding gift.

MURPHY—CLACK.

Clare K. Murphy, a student at the Normal last year, and now superintendent at Springport, was married November 23 to Miss Emma Clack of Oxford. In speaking of the event the Springport Signal says:

"A quite informal wedding was held at the home of the bride's father, J. J. Clack, with only the immediate family and Super J. W. Beolender of Owendale present. Mrs. Murphy was for four years a very successful teacher in the schools of Oakland county, and was secretary of the Lakeville school for some time. She is a graduate of Leonard High School and was also a student in the State Normal at Ypsilanti where Mr. Murphy met her some three or four years ago. Very little need be said about Mr. Murphy, who is a graduate of the Portland High School, State Normal and the Ferris Institute, and is considered a very able instructor."

HATHAWAY—WOOD.

Wednesday, December 28, Leon Hathaway was united in marriage to Louise Wood by Rev. Reuben Allen at the bride's home on Normal Street. Both of the young people are Normal College alumni, Mrs. Hathaway having graduated in 1900 and Mr. Hathaway in 1901. The happy couple will reside in Mooseville where Mr. Hathaway is teaching.

LULL—WESCOTT.

Myrtle Wescott, Conservatory class, '08, and Minn Lull, both of South Haven, were married November eighteenth. Mr. and Mrs. Lull make their home in South Haven.

We have fewer stories translated from the Italian than we would wish, if the little volume just received from Ginn & Co. is a fair sample. The adventures of Pinocchio is by Carlo Lorenzini, who writes under the assumed name of C. Collodi. It is the tale of a wooden marionette hero, who was a sorry rogue, with good intentions, but with a wayward fondness for freedom from work and school which led him into all kinds of troubles, as he had not enough wit to save him from the crafty wiles of either man or beast who lie in wait for lawless boys and marionettes. Going from bad to worse, he is finally turned into a monkey, but eventually, his good fairy comes to his rescue, and he is changed into a real little boy, because his good fairy had really conquered his little heart. Pinocchio is an Italian classic and is certain to be a favorite with the children.

From the same publishers, Ginn & Co., we have also an extremely well selected book of poetry, edited by Gayley, author of classic myths of Greece and Rome. The sub-title is fairly descriptive of its scope, Poetry of the people: Ballads, lays of heroism, and national songs. It is equally adapted to high school use, or for the grades.

BEST REASON YET WHY MICHIGAN WASN'T PLAYED.

Best of all the things that have been printed in connection with the refusal of the Eastern colleges generally, and Columbia especially, to meet Michigan on the football field, is furnished by the New York Times, in a little story that is better than columns of weighty argument. The Times credits Max Hardman, a Western lad who is attending the Columbia law school, with the story. Hardman was dining with a number of other Columbia students in a New York restaurant, when the Columbia-Michigan game that was not played came up for discussion.

"You Eastern chaps are like a little Irish tailor of whom I once heard," The Times quotes Hardman as saying: "He was the proud possessor of an enormous nerve, and the only thing that kept him from being annihilated was that at crucial moments his discretion mastered his valor.

"One morning Mrs. Murphy, a customer, entered the shop, and finding him busily engaged with pencil and paper, asked him what he was doing.

"'Oi'm makin' a lisht av the min on this bl ock who Oi tin li ck,' said he pompously.

"Have yez got Murphy's name down?' asked she.

"'Murphy's heads me lisht,' was the reply.

"Mrs. Murphy hurried home to her lord and master with the news and he came down to the shop with fire in his eye.

"'Me woman tells me that ye're aft her makin' a memorial tablet ov the min thot ye kin lick, and that ye've got me down at the head of it. Is thot true?' said the irate Murphy.

"'Shur e an' it's true. Phawt of it?' returned the other.

"'Do,you good-for-nothing little grasshopper, could commit suicide on yez wid me little finger. I could wipe up de flur e wid yez wid me hand tied.'

"'Are yez shure about thot?' asked the tailor.

"'Shure I'm shure about it.'

"'Well, then,' sighed the knight of the shears regretfully. 'I'll scratch ye aff de lisht.'"—News.
Training School Notes

Linda Hummel is the assistant teacher in the high school department.

Miss Schindler '01, fifth grade teacher in Ann Arbor, visited the fifth grade in the training school this week.

Vivian Merril has gone to Missoula, Montana, where she has accepted a position as teacher in the primary grades. She was honor teacher in the first grade, and Rose Dennis has been appointed in her place.

Miss Elise Osterholm, supervisor of manual training and domestic science departments in Ann Arbor, visited here this week to look over the equipment in the domestic science department. In the burning of the fifth school at Ann Arbor, Miss Osterholm lost all her valuable Swedish models.

Miss Elizabeth H. McClellan is the new critic teacher in the third grade, who takes the position left vacant by Miss Lynch's resignation. Miss McClellan is a graduate of the Bridgewater Normal School of Massachusetts, but later postgraduate work in the University of Chicago and has had eight years experience in training school work in the South. The last year and a half she has been at Cornell University, doing special work.

Coming to the Normal with such wide experience and thorough training, Miss McClellan is gladly welcomed as one of the corps of critic teachers.

Among the students who completed the college work last quarter, the following have positions: Hazel Ackley, first grade, St. Johns; Susanna Klapp, eighth grade, Huron; Ola Case, Music School for the Feeble Minded at Lapeer; Berlinc Grant, third grade Jackson; Edith Cunningham, fifth and sixth grades, Hinsdale Park; Ella Adams, third grade, Benton Harbor; Florence Harper, third grade, Grand Rapids; Alice Howard, rural school, Porterville; Annette Larson, first grade, Dufur; Verna A. Reeves, third and fourth grades. New Baltimore; Anna Mac Tracey, first grade, Albion; Myrtle Smith, first and second grades, Marlette; Wilma Moll, first grade, Missoula, Montana; Abbie Leобр, fourth and sixth grades, Grand Rapids; Adeline Shilts, eighth grade, Escanaba; Jessie Wallace, first grade, Newberry; Carrie German, second grade, Midland; Lyda Sarnberg, sixth grade, Eaton Rapids; Elsie Maxon, sixth grade, Elgin, Illinois; Flora Ruston, '06, sixth grade, Alcona; Francis Butterfield, principal of high school, Ascension, Illinois; Clara McGinnis, fifth grade, Wyanote.

16 student teachers are enrolled in the training school department this quarter.

The following have been out of town visitors: Grace Abbott in Dexter, Sunday; Zoë Nichols in Saline, Tuesday; Elsie Eddy in Sheldon, Sunday; Grace Seger and Elizabeth Wright in Ann Arbor, Saturday; Martha Phillips in Detroit, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Lucia Ames Meade, of Boston, Massachusetts, gave a very interesting talk during the chapel hour Wednesday morning, on the subject “Ends of International Quality.” Mrs. Meade is an enthusiastic representative of the “Peace” work and in her talk said that the work is only to be done by organization. If the world were more organized the Russ-Japanese war would not now be in progress. Her closing thought was “Our Country is the World. Our Countrymen all Mankind.”

COMING AGAIN!

A RARE OPPORTUNITY.

Seeboeck—Shaw Recital Thursday Evening will Afford One for Music Lovers.

At the beginning of the year Professor Pease, Director of the Conservatory of Music, arranged with the consent of Pres. Jones, to give six artist recitals of music. These were to be given by artists from other cities, in order to give Normal and Conservatory students opportunities to hear the best music by eminent musicians, at a merely nominal price. The first was given by the well known tenor, Mr. William Lav’u, of Detroit, and made a most favorable impression. The second was by Monsieur and Madame Nemes, the celebrated violinist and pianist, and awakened genuine enthusiasm for these charming players. The third will be given in Normal Hall, on the evening of Thursday, Jan. 19. This recital will interest all, as it will present Mr. W. E. C. Seeboeck, the famous pianist, of Chicago, and Mr. Alfred D. Shaw, tenor, of the same city, and who has already appeared here with the Ypsilanti Choral Society, last season in The Golden Legend.

Are Your Eyes Bad?

DR. M. F. STEIN,

THE FAMOUS SPECIALIST WILL CURE YOU.

Many people become all but totally blind at an early age and simply because they pay no attention to their eyes. They notice a dimness and soreness after reading awhile, and when a miserable headache comes to them, they ascribe it to any cause but the right one. The real cause of their misery is that their eyes are weak and every time they read or write means an added strain and their eyes made weaker.

Consultation with a specialist means the ending of all misery and the saving of your eyesight.

DR. STEIN IS RELIABLE

You do not see him once and then look for him again in vain. He will make regular visits to the town. Come and see him and have your eyes scientifically tested free of charge, that you may have comfort when you read or write.

Will be at Hawkins House, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 17 and 18.
