YPSILANTI, Mich. (EMUeagles.com) – The Eastern Michigan University football program returns to the turf for its first spring practice Tuesday, March 11, at 3:30 p.m.. The session kicks off a string of 15 practice dates during a five-week period that culminates with the program’s annual spring football game Saturday, April 12.

During the spring practice period, the Eagles will be the field each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. All practices are open to the public but please note that times are subject to change.

A coaches' chalk talk will be held on Saturday, April 5, beginning at 9 a.m. The free event will feature an introduction from first-year Head Coach Chris Creighton along with a chance to watch practice as well as a post practice chalk talk with position coaches. More information and registration are available by e-mailing Director of Football Operations Jacob Kirkendall at jkirken1@emich.edu.

Depending on the weather, practices will take place either in Rynearson Stadium or in the Multi-Purpose Indoor Facility.

The Spring Game will be a capper for the practice period as Creighton and his staff will put on a full-squad scrimmage for Eagle fans inside Rynearson Stadium. Details, events and promotions surrounding the game are forthcoming.

Below is a full schedule for this year's spring practices (times are subject to change):
